IT'S ALL A MISTAKE--MELLEN

Charles S. Mellen, president of the New Haven Railroad, to-day at the Touraine Hotel dictated a statement denying that he is to retire at once or in the near future from the head of the railroad, and explaining just how he came to make the enigmatical and misleading statement that has caused such a hubbub in railroad and financial circles.

"He regrets," says the statement, "if people have been misled, for it was far from his disposition to be party to any deception."

New Haven and Boston & Maine stocks opened on the Boston Stock Exchange to-day at yesterday's closing price. Within twenty minutes New Haven had sagged one point, making a net loss in New Haven yesterday and to-day of five points.

Will Not Cut Dividend.

Mr. Mellen asserts that the dividend of the New Haven road will not be cut from 8 to 6 per cent., which is in the nature of a deft to Morgan and that element that wants to reduce the dividend to that figure.

President Mellen admits that he wrote the statement that told the world he was going to resign because he was "nettled" and considered the questions that were put to him at New Haven as "impertinent."

In the meantime New Haven and Boston & Maine stocks have been tumbling, the drop yesterday in New Haven representing a loss of nearly $8,000,000 on the stock outstanding, and in Boston & Maine of nearly $300,000.

Mr. Mellen came to the Touraine from his inspection tour through New England and was joined there by "Deacon" Isaac Brumley, the New Haven's new agent at New Haven. The Deacon is new to Boston reporters, inasmuch only an extraordinary exigency calls him here.

It soon became apparent why he was brought to Boston. It was to assist President Mellen in the making of a new statement to relieve the New Haven's financial situation, that had been getting worse and worse since the statement was made that Mellen was to retire and that the dividends would be cut.

After the statement was prepared Mr. Mellen and "Deacon" Brumley went to the South station and started for New Haven.

Statement by News Bureau.

Here is the statement as printed in to-day's News Bureau:

"On the arrival yesterday of the special train which brought President Mellen and his associate directors back to Boston from a tour of inspection of the northern lines of the Boston & Maine system, a representative of the Boston News Bureau called upon Mr. Mellen and requested him to make a statement regarding recent reshuffling and dividend rumors.

"President Mellen was not disposed to do so, but upon further insistence reluctantly consented to dictate the statement which appears below. Its emphatic, straightforward English should set at rest once and for all, all talk as to his retirement and as to any nearly possibility of a reduction in New Haven's 8 per cent. dividend. The statement follows:

Mr. Mellen's Statement.

Some day just week there was received by Mr. Mellen through the road's

WOMAN, ILL, IS EXILED AS WITCH

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 14.—The cruel old days of Salem witchcraft have been revived here. Mrs. Meta Immerman, a poor seamstress from New York, was put in jail and then driven out of town.

In the week she was here Mrs. Immerman was insulted and mocked, her baggage was thrown out of her lodgings, and she was stoned, arrested and thrown in jail. Mrs. Immerman came to Allentown to take the Kneipp barefoot treatment in the hope of restoring her eyes, almost destroyed by overwork.

She took the treatment under John Kloss, who lives in a hut near the town. She gave her New York address as No. 949 Central Park West. The Y. M. C. A. sent her to the home of George Kipp, a butcher at No. 207 South Thirteenth street. In the house were also John Sobers and his young wife, soon to become a mother. Mrs. Immerman was blind and anguished but just a shade red, and her faded gray eyes peered through very thick glasses.

On the fourth day John Sobers came home suffering from indigestion. He consulted a "pow-wow" doctor, one of many in this town, who told him he was the victim of an evil spirit.

Then the Kipps and Sobersees began to remember things. They noticed Mrs. Immerman's strange diet of raw eggs and nuts and her nightly excursions to the city park to take the intellect treatment in the deep grass. That night, when the Kipps went upstairs to bed, they passed Mrs. Immerman's room. The door was open and she was in bed. Kipp says her eyes burned like a cat's.

News like this travels. The next day the neighbors were saying that Mrs. Immerman was a witch and could cast the evil flash from her fingers. They had seen the electric flashlight she carried at night to help her near-sighted eyes, but didn't know what it was. That night she found a note on her bureau ordering her to leave town. Next day she was hooted on the streets. The Kipps called the police. The crowd called "Witch!" as she was taken away, and the boys threw stones at her. She was in jail forty-eight hours.

CAVALIERI TELLS WHAT TO EAT.

Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the most famous living beauty, intelligently discusses the subject of what to eat in her famous beauty page in

SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

WOMAN IN JAIL FOR PRINCIPLE

Mrs. Catherine Lassen of Weymouth, sixty-two years old and the wife of a wealthy inventor, is in Dedham jail to-day awaiting trial on the charge of assault upon a servant. She refuses to accept $500 bail for her release. She is determined to remain in jail and fight out the charges against her. Her testimony in the Quincy Police Court on Saturday promises a sensation.

Rather than return to her $25,000 home in Weymouth, where she has lived in luxury, with several servants to attend to her wants, she insists upon staying in the lonely, barren little cell room of the jail to-day, eating the plain fare that the jail keeper offers.

The woman has silvery gray hair and is of the type of the motherly New England woman. She is richly but modestly dressed and is the most unusual prisoner ever locked up in Dedham jail.

The charge against her is assault upon one of her servants, Miss Welhelm J. Deandein. The assault is said to have been the result of a dispute in the household which led to a scene.

The woman's husband, Victor Lassen, made a fortune as the inventor of a metal which is now used in the building of the great battleships turned out at the Fore River shipbuilding yards in Quincy. The couple has lived for years in the magnificent residence which is one of the show places of the town.

Mrs. Lassen's husband and her son have offered to furnish the $500 bail in which she is held for her appearance in the Quincy court on Saturday, but she has refused to accept.

SPINNERS OPEN ANNUAL SESSION

The twenty-third annual convention of the International Spinners' Union opened at No. 724 Washington street to-day for a three days' session. Urban Flemming of Holyoke is general president of the organization and Samuel Ross of New Bedford general secretary. There were thirty districts represented from Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut and New York. Forty-five delegates were present. Despite the fact that the textile industry had experienced the greatest depression in its history, the union held its own in point of membership. The cities represented comprised Fall River, New Bedford, Lawrence, Central and several others where the textile industry is a factor. The session will last until Saturday.

CONFER ON TOBACCO TRUST SITUATION

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—An important conference on the reorganization of the American Tobacco Company, which was recently ordered dissolved by the United States Supreme Court, was held between counsel for the corporation, Federal Judge Lacombe, Ward and Noyes, and Attorney General Wickersham, in the Federal building here to-day.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 14.—By the overturning of an automobile in Mercedino avenue, Newburgh Heights, early to-day, one man was killed and his companion hurt. The dead man is James Fitzpatrick, aged thirty-three.

GERMANY GETS READY TO REPLY

BERLIN, Sept. 14.—The French note concerning Germany's reply to France's ultimatum on Morocco was officially considered by the German cabinet to-day. Before the cabinet meeting Prince Minister Von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Minister von Kiderlen-Waechter held an important conference.

While the contents of the note are not secret, having been communicated to the representatives of the powers at Paris, they are being kept out of the press. It is already guessed that France's answer was more in the way of an explanation than a formal declaration of attitude.

A state of depression prevailed over the bourse, however. In view of the trend of events in the Franco-German negotiations prices were apparently no reason for this matter. They called it "technical weakness" and let the result of events alone.

Withdrawals of French money have assumed much more serious proportions, causing an unusually sharp advance in Paris sight exchange. The movement, however, does not excite particular concern among Berlin financiers, because the Paris balances have already been reduced to less than one-half the amount at the end of June.

It is assumed in some quarters that the Paris banks are acting on a hint from the French government in order to bring pressure on Wilhelmstrasse to influence a speedy settlement. This calculation, it is believed, will be wholly without effect upon the German government.

ASTOR WEDDING FEE WAS $1,000

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—The Astor wedding fee was $1,000. It was reported that Colonel John Jacob Astor handed the Rev. Joseph Lambert a check for $5,000 when the Providence clergyman performed at Beechwood villa last Saturday the marriage ceremony that united Colonel Astor and Madeleine Force. But it was learned to-day that the actual amount of the fee is $1,000, which strikes Newport people as much more reasonable, even for a mate of Colonel Astor's tremendous wealth.

Information comes from Pernville, the Astor Summer home at Ribbleshe-on-Hudson, that Colonel Astor and his bride will sail at the end of this week on the steam yacht Noma for Bermuda. They will be gone two weeks. In Bermuda they will put up at the Victoria Hotel, Hamilton, which is patronized by aristocratic English people and a few rich Americans. There Colonel Astor's bride will probably meet several English people of social prominence. Newport clergy are discussing to-day the action of the Hollis-Derry, N. H., Association of Congregational Ministers. This association has passed a resolution condemning the Rev. Joseph Lambert of Providence for performing the Astor marriage. Among the corrupters of the meeting was the Rev. Mr. Perry of Hudson, N. H., the man who married "Jacky" Geraghty and Miss Julia Steele French at Central Village, Ct., the morning of that celebrated elopement. Mr. Perry told the story of that marriage and declared it was an ideal one.

DAVIS SAYS 'WETS' WIN IN MAINE

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 14.—Secretary of State Cyrus W. Davis declared at 9:30 o'clock to-day that his official figures of the result of Monday's vote on the prohibition amendment put the State in the "wet" column by a majority of 155 votes.

"I do not believe," said the Secretary of State, "that the final figures will vary the votes from this result.

"I have taken every care possible to get the vote of the small places that have not been heard from as yet officially and feel certain that the amendment for prohibition has been voted out of the constitution.

"The great trouble has been with the town of Limestone. I have received the official report from the town clerk, under his signature. It gives 175 for repeal and 12 against repeal. We must go by those returns. I have been threshing that out with newspaper reports that were received earlier from the town clerk, which reversed those results, for several hours, and the figures must stand as we have received them.

"May Be Small Change Yet."

"There may be a small change yet, but I do not think that it will vary more than five votes and the Secretary of State's office considers the prohibition amendment has been voted out of the constitution."

Governor Plaisted is on his way home from the conference of Governors in New Jersey to give his attention to the close race in Maine, and see that no mistake is made in the final figures.

"It is the uncertainty that calls me home," Governor Plaisted wired to Augusta. "The voters of the State and the country at large are entitled to know the result as soon as possible. I want to help them to learn it. Under our laws there are two sets of returns, one filed with the Secretary of State and opened immediately; the other sealed and opened by the Governor and Council. These latter are authentic, but sometimes it takes two weeks to get complete returns. We have to send for them in instances, and there are other delays which I believe my presence in Maine might help alleviate or avoid."

The Augusta tabulation is arrived at by the Secretary of State by mail returns from the city and town clerks in all but thirteen of the 521 cities and towns of Maine. The count of these thirteen, combining some 6,000 votes, was supplied by the Associated Press. Of these thirteen the record of all has been verified by the Associated Press in mail returns of the cities and town clerks. The others have not been verified.

Try to Straighten Tangle.

The Associated Press tabulation is arrived at by mail returns from the city and town clerks in 408 of the 521 cities and towns of the State. One hundred and thirteen of these have been verified or raised to agree with the Augusta mail returns and three small towns, two of them in distant parts of the State have been called on the long distance 'phone and their vote verified. The count of seven small towns—with a vote ranging 100 —is used with verification.

The total vote as given out by the Secretary of State in Augusta is:

Yes, 66,521; no, 66,366.

Majority for repeal, 155.

The total vote as given out by the Associated Press in Portland is:

Yes, 66,241; no, 65,994.

Majority for retention, 247.

Every effort of the State will be concentrated to-day in an effort to secure an exact tabulation, that the uncertainty which now exists may be dispelled.

WOMEN CONDEMN SHAKER KILLING

Boston Leaders Call It Wrong from Legal, Religious and Medical Standpoints.

Has a human being, out of love and kindness, the right to destroy the life of one who is slowly dying in pain?

This long debated, never settled question is again being discussed in millions of American homes today as the result of the strange case which has just come to light in a Shaker settlement in Florida, where Sister Sadie L. Marchant was put to death by Brother Egbert B. Gillette and Sister Sons of the religious community, to end her sufferings. Brother Gillette says:

Before God, I think that I did right. My conscience is perfectly at ease."

They have been released under very light bail by the court, which has evidently taken their view of their act.

Sister Marchant was in pain, dying, from tuberculosis. Brother Gillette administered chloroform to the dying woman, with her knowledge, and Sister Marchant passed peacefully and painlessly away.

Do you think their act was justifiable, Mr. or Mrs. Reader? A woman physician, a woman minister, and two women lawyers — all Boston women — unite in condemning the act as not justified, as wrong, from a legal, a religious, and a medical point of view.

Dr. Hughes Condemns It.

Dr. Laura A. C. Hughes of No. 68 Huntington avenue, who has seen years of service as a nurse in Boston hospitals, had charge of one of the hospitals at Montauk Point, N. Y., after the Spanish war, and has practiced medicine in this city for sixteen years, says she cannot voice her condemnation too strongly of such an act as the Shakers committed.

"I cannot believe that it ever happened," said she. "The idea of it is so revolting to the ideas of medical science and the laws of God that it seems impossible. I think that under any circumstances, the taking of human life to end pain is wrong, professionally, morally, ethically.

"God created life and it is for God to take it anybody taken it. Whether one be Roman Catholic, Protestant or Jew, the belief in some Supreme Being is the same. Many times people come around and whisper in front of dying patients and nurses put a screen between a deadly disease and the rest of the room, but I would not be afraid to be seen administering chloroform to a dying person with a deadly disease out of the way by warning a chloroform in front of friends.

"There is absolutely nothing in that idea as far as my experience goes, and during all my years of training and practice my aim has been to get as much pain and the shade as I could.

"I have never heard of its being done and I think it never is done, for it not only a wrong in the light of God and common sense and is contrary to the public good. The thing that the country needs most in its industrial and political problems is faith in God and with faith in God that the taking of human life as a so-called act of mercy is a sufficient from pain cannot be justified."

Mrs. Lesser Op[poses] It.

Women lawyers are inspiring in their advance criticism of the taking of human life without the authority of the State, and are not confining their views to those of legal theory, but entered them into the moral and religious field.

Mrs. Alice Parker Lesser, an attorney at No. 82 Court street, who has joined in the protest, says:

"Mercy is an imaginary thing," she said, "but I cannot imagine any circumstances under which such an act as that of the Shakers should have been tried in court, and I don't see how any lawyer could plead that the defendants were acting under the circumstances was right. The killing could not be justified as self-defense, nor would the request for chloroform of the dying woman be a plea for the person who wanted to do make it justifiable homicide, and with a case like this there must be one or the other.

"That is the theory of the law as I understand it, and I agree with it as a moral principle, while I regret the fine attitude of many persons who would defend the so-called human life at any cost."

Edith M. Harris, another attorney, of No. 23 Ressiter street, said:

"I think the doctors are the ones who should have most to say of this, for they are the conservators of life. We are not on this sphere, and as long as we can stay here the conditions in which we live are for us. I have seen many cases of horrible suffering among men and animals, in which there have been recoveries and great joy afterwards in being able to live. If such a course as was taken here was followed generally, it would certainly destroy our chances of finding the secret of perpetual youth.

"As a lawyer I should say this was manslaughter at least, even if the Florida law were that an attempt at suicide was not a crime.

"A strong argument can be made in favor of 'The Right to Die,' a term used in an address on this question before the American Bar Association at Saratoga several years ago, and I think Macrobius's in his 'Essay on Death' agrees with it.

With irony in her voice, she continued:

"But we hear constantly how people's lives have been put out of the way—in insane asylums or otherwise—by their interested friends, and if it were lawful to assist one to commit suicide, the difficulty of proving malicious killing would be so great that the law would have opened the way to killing people for their money or for other reasons of greed with impunity."

Dr. Laura A. C. Hughes, well-known physician and army nurse; Mrs. Alice Parker Lesser, attorney and Rev. Lucy C. McGee, pastor, join in condemnation of the Shakers who, by her wish, gave chloroform to a dying member of the "family" to kill her painlessly.

CHINESE ADMIRAL SEES BOSTON

Ohing Pih Kwang Strolls in Fenway Before Leaving for Beverly to See Taft

Rear Admiral Ching Pih Kwang, second in command of the Chinese navy, arrived in Boston today on his way to visit President Taft at Beverly. In an interview with an AMERICAN reporter he said that China was now facing the most serious crisis. He said:

"The situation in China at present has reached a crisis. There is no doubt about that. The uprising in Szechuen Province will be suppressed by the government, but that is not what the government most fears. It is afraid of the neighboring provinces, especially in the South. If these insurgent forces unite I fear it would mean a bitter struggle. China is suffering severely from the financial stringency. Troops are always in readiness in the southern part of China to suppress any uprising."

Says War Is Remote.

When asked the outlook of the possibilities of war between the United States and Japan, the Admiral also speaks English fluently said: "It is a political question of which I know but little. In my opinion the chances of war between the United States and Japan are very remote."

Boston, he continued, is the one of the most beautiful cities I have ever visited. But I do not like the changes of temperature you have here in the East. I went across from Monday and Tuesday so cold that one ought to have an overcoat. For that reason I prefer the climate of the Pacific coast, which is more even.

The Admiral is suffering from a sore throat which he contracted from the sudden change in weather. He wore an American-made straw hat and a blue serge suit.

A large delegation of Chinese merchants met the admiral at the train station on his arrival at 7.30 o'clock from Washington and escorted him either he alighted from the train. He was given an invitation to attend a luncheon in his honor, but regretted that he was unable to accept as his appointment with President Taft in Beverly did not allow him time to dine with his fellow-countrymen. He was taken in an automobile to the Hotel Somerset, and proceeded to his suite.

Takes Stroll in Fenway.

After breakfast at the hotel he went out with his secretary for a two-mile walk through the Fenway. On his return he received several more and at noon donned the admiral's uniform and was driven to the North Station to take the 12.15 o'clock train for Beverly.

Rear Admiral Ching Pih Kwang, in charge of the cruiser Hai Chi, the first Chinese warship to visit America.

The admiral visits President Taft at Beverly today.

After a conference with President Taft the nature of which he refused to reveal, he will return to the Hotel Somerset where he will pass the night. He will leave here in the morning for New York, where he will visit on Mayor Gaynor and will visit Governor's Island on Saturday.

After a week-end rest he will be entertained on Monday at luncheon by Rear Admiral Leutze, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Also on Wednesday he will sail for Havana and Mexico, later proceeding to England to take home a treaty signed under consideration there. He is accompanied on his tour in this country by Commander George P. Cooper of the United States navy and Young Kwai, charge d'affaires of the Chinese legation.

Ideas of American Women.

What are your ideas of American women?" he was asked before leaving the hotel.

"But the admiral and a suite. Do you know eggs I should like most? he replied. "No, I do not think largely on their clothes, but for their education. They are so clever."

I have met a great many American women in London and Paris and other European capitals, and with some of them I have become excellent friends. All are bright and clever women with the things they know. Their great and special charm lies there.

They are beautiful, yes, though the type is no different from our own. They wear beautiful clothes of a cosmopolitan character. Outside of these, about which I am not competent to form from the best dressed women of half a dozen European capitals. And personally, except in the case of some foolish extremes like an ankle skirt, I find European clothes as attractive on the women of the West as the national dress of our own women for them. I have seen a few English specie in women wearing our costumes, and for it suit was anything but pleasing. Neither do Chinese women look well in tailor made. Each one should keep to its own dress, as conforming to its natural figure."

"And do you also think the Chinese women should not receive the education you appreciate in our women?" was asked.

"Oh there we are in a different field entirely," he responded. "Chinese women and modern ideas have little in common in the wisdom of schools. The wisest of us in China know this need to be a fact, against disaster. We have the highest admiration for the wonderful constitution of books. We know American history. I have studied it all my life. And so each will men are entitled to the pursuit of happiness as entitled to the pursuit of educational self development.

"Now schools are starting constantly in China. Women are filling many of them. We believe, of course, that wifehood and motherhood must be the foundation. But we are coming to believe that women of the both these conditions more perfectly as we come to know more.

"In the future we will not hinder women from entering business and the professions, always bearing in mind that none of these things shall come between the wife and the interests of the home. We already have some women physicians.

Reform Must Be Slow.

"Men, of course, set these decisions. Ours is a conservative people. We have been in education at all for centuries of generations. Anything cannot be reformed in a day.

"And do not suppose that women seek to vote?" one asked.

"Certainly they should have a part in the government, but not to vote. They are ready for it," he insisted. "It is a joke, now, to say that Chinese women are outside of affairs. They are not asleep. The seed of education is there and developing.

"But I do not see why the vote is to be denied to the women of England and America. Women have more thought to use their minds in the same as men. Why should they be denied the use of it? All of the best people are men incidents figures in the classic annals of business."

Admiral Ching Pih Kwang and friend left for Beverly at 12.15 o'clock.

LADY OF IMPULSE TO WED AGAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Marion Gilhooley-Lawrie, divorced wife of Frederick K. Lawrie, private secretary to the late John W. Gates, and whose escapades have earned her the title of the original "Woman of Impulse," will be married once more this time on October 26, to Walter C. White, the noted automobile racer and one of the White automobile manufacturers of Cleveland. Formal announcement of the engagement will be made today by Mrs. Lawrie's parents, Judge Patrick Hamilton Gilhooley and Mrs. Gilhooley in Elizabeth, N. J.

Mrs. Lawrie, who is noted for her beauty and her impulses, began her career before the public when she made her debut in New York society and by it was found a wedding certificate showing that she was the wife of the successful Gates. She explained the event by telling that she and had an impulse to get married and that afterwards she disappeared, to be found months later in an obscure hotel in Paris, where she was studying music. She declared she had been the victim of another impulse, this time to study music. Several subsequent impulses took her on as many trips across the ocean.

MILLIONS OF FOLKS USE ONLY CASCARETS

They Never Have Headache, Biliousness, Sluggish Liver or Bowels or a Sick, Sour Stomach.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestines—you always get the desired results with Cascarets and quickly too.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable another moment; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other distress; cleanse your inside organs of all the poison and effete matter which is producing the misery.

Take a Cascaret now; don't wait until bedtime. In all the world there is no remedy like this. A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

J. FROST MAKES BOSTON SHIVER

Well, was there frost on your cucumber patch, too?

Commuters coming in from Boston suburbs today swapped "frost" stories. In many of the outlying districts there was a frosty glaze over truck patches. It was the first appearance of Mr. J. Frost, the celebrated Winter vaudevillian, on the Boston circuit.

Mr. Frost's appearance was crisp and snappy, but brought no encore. It brought salvers and such expressions as "Ugh." Nevertheless, it is expected that Mr. Frost will be here again soon, maybe tomorrow.

The Boston Weather Bureau fails to confirm officially these reports of suburban frost. But the Weather Bureau does admit four to-day was the coldest September 14 Boston has known for many seven years. The official thermometer recorded a minimum degrees at 5 a. m. in 1884 it was 50 degrees in Boston on September 14. The highest temperature was 68 degrees. Then, under a chill wind, the temperature dropped four degrees until 5 a. m. Thursday, sending sun warmed things up a bit till the mercury stood at 68 at 5 p. m.

Frost business was reported by the coal dealers, the people who sell Winter clothing and the plumber.

THREE NEW PLAYERS FOR THE SYMPHONY

There will be only three new faces in the Symphony orchestra this year, one of these will be an addition to the membership of the orchestra, while the other two replace members who have retired. The additional member will be Modeste Alloo, who will share with Mr. Alloo the position of first trombone. Mr. Alloo is a Belgian and comes very highly recommended. He played in Gand several years ago, wrote for him and dedicated to him a trombone concerto. The other two members will be viola players coming from abroad. They will take the place of Henry Heindl and one other of the viola players who retired from the orchestra last year. Mr. Heindl is one of the old guard, as he was a member of the first Symphony orchestra in 1881 and until his illness a year ago he had the remarkable record of never having missed a rehearsal or concert in twenty-nine years. He retires on pension.

WATER WORKS MEN AT GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 14.—Gloucester has begun the entertainment of 200 delegates to the thirtieth annual convention of the New England Water Works Association which will be in session over Friday. Papers were read by H. H. Richardson of New London, Ct.; A. J. Provost of New York, Robert S. Weston, Boston, and Robert Ridgeway, New York.

Dr. Lemuel H. Murlin, the new president of Boston University, who is from Kansas and believes in votes for women. Dr. Murlin, however, would base suffrage both for men and women on an intelligence test.

It stirs me to see some low-down, good-for-nothing able to walk up and cast his vote when my wife, who is a well-informed woman, who owns property on which she pays taxes, cannot vote. sex is no qualification for the vote.

The Western girl is impulsive and likely to reveal herself on short acquaintance. Eastern girls are more reserved and self-contained.

If in the modern city which is breaking up our old-fashioned notions of home life.

In Kansas living is cheap and most of the wives of their own work.

I use paying 12 cents a pound for butter that I bought for 20 cents in Kansas and 12 cents a quart for milk that I bought for 5.

From interview with President Murlin of Boston University.

By GERTRUDE L. MARVIN.

Boston University is all for votes for women, at least Dr. Lemuel H. Murlin, the president of the university, is. Dr. Murlin, who succeeds Dr. William F. Warren as president, is described in Who's Who as a Methodist clergyman, born in Kansas, educated in the public schools there, graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college, and from the Boston University School of Theology. He has been pastor of churches in Kansas and Boston, and has been president of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Dr. Murlin has been connected with Boston University since 1904, when he was elected professor of homiletics and pastoral theology. He has been president of the university since 1907. He is married and has two children, a son and a daughter. The son is married and has a child. The daughter is married to Professor Bailey, of the department of biology at Boston University.

Dr. Murlin has come to Boston from Kansas, and he has brought with him some of the ideas of the West. He is a believer in votes for women, and he is also a believer in the ability of the Western girl to look after herself. He is not afraid of the modern city which is breaking up our old-fashioned notions of home life. He is a believer in the cheapness of living in Kansas, and he is a believer in the ability of the Kansas wife to do her own work.

Dr. Murlin was interviewed by a representative of the Boston American in his office at the university. He is a man of medium height, with a pleasant face and a kindly manner. He has a strong voice, and he speaks with a slight Western accent. He is a man who looks you straight in the eye when he talks to you, and he talks in a way that makes you feel that he means what he says.

Make Intelligence a Test.

Dr. Murlin has some interesting views on the question of votes for women, and he is not afraid to express them. He is an advocate of suffrage, but he would base suffrage both for men and women on an intelligence test. He would not have the ignorant man vote, nor the ignorant woman. He would not have the man who is a slave to his appetite vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her appetite. He would not have the man who is a slave to his passions vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her passions. He would not have the man who is a slave to his prejudices vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her prejudices. He would not have the man who is a slave to his superstitions vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her superstitions. He would not have the man who is a slave to his ignorance vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her ignorance. He would not have the man who is a slave to his vices vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her vices. He would not have the man who is a slave to his sins vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her sins. He would not have the man who is a slave to his crimes vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her crimes. He would not have the man who is a slave to his shame vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her shame. He would not have the man who is a slave to his disgrace vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her disgrace. He would not have the man who is a slave to his dishonor vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her dishonor. He would not have the man who is a slave to his infamy vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her infamy. He would not have the man who is a slave to his degradation vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her degradation. He would not have the man who is a slave to his ruin vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her ruin. He would not have the man who is a slave to his destruction vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her destruction. He would not have the man who is a slave to his damnation vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her damnation. He would not have the man who is a slave to his hell vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her hell. He would not have the man who is a slave to his perdition vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her perdition. He would not have the man who is a slave to his doom vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her doom. He would not have the man who is a slave to his fate vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her fate. He would not have the man who is a slave to his destiny vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her destiny. He would not have the man who is a slave to his future vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her future. He would not have the man who is a slave to his eternity vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her eternity. He would not have the man who is a slave to his infinity vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her infinity. He would not have the man who is a slave to his absolute vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her absolute. He would not have the man who is a slave to his perfection vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her perfection. He would not have the man who is a slave to his identity vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her identity. He would not have the man who is a slave to his self vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her self. He would not have the man who is a slave to his soul vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her soul. He would not have the man who is a slave to his spirit vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her spirit. He would not have the man who is a slave to his mind vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her mind. He would not have the man who is a slave to his body vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her body. He would not have the man who is a slave to his flesh vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her flesh. He would not have the man who is a slave to his blood vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her blood. He would not have the man who is a slave to his bones vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her bones. He would not have the man who is a slave to his marrow vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her marrow. He would not have the man who is a slave to his nerves vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her nerves. He would not have the man who is a slave to his brain vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her brain. He would not have the man who is a slave to his heart vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her heart. He would not have the man who is a slave to his lungs vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her lungs. He would not have the man who is a slave to his liver vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her liver. He would not have the man who is a slave to his kidneys vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her kidneys. He would not have the man who is a slave to his stomach vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her stomach. He would not have the man who is a slave to his bowels vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her bowels. He would not have the man who is a slave to his intestines vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her intestines. He would not have the man who is a slave to his colon vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her colon. He would not have the man who is a slave to his rectum vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her rectum. He would not have the man who is a slave to his anus vote, nor the woman who is a slave to her anus. New England, Jr.

There is not so much difference between this people of the women, and the men, too, for that matter, as there is made out, perhaps. Eastern girls seem more self-possessed and self-confident. The Western girl is more impulsive and likely to reveal herself on short acquaintance. But reserve is always something that comes with age. Every civilization is a compromise between the individual and the state. The more of individualism in one sense of the word, the less of solidarity and cooperation of social forces is a pretty good New England judge, and New England ought to know.

Perhaps the greatest difference between East and West is in the stronger sense of home life which is to be found in the West. It is the modern city which is breaking up our old-fashioned notions of home life. It is an agency for destroying home and family life. Apartments and flats are practically no more than lodging houses. They are not a home community, and have no manufacturing industries connected with them. Houses are equally unknown, and they are the center of the whole economic system of living. Practically everybody out there does not only own their home, but a little garden around it, where he knows pretty much everything that grows. Then there is room or an equal number of people and more space between houses. The cost of living as the people of Kansas. I don't know how the people in the cities live in the states.

Nobody on I know of a case of extreme poverty in the state. Everybody seems to be able to get along with a little so much more simply. Most of the people have their own land, or else rent it on shares. And living is so cheap. Twenty-five cents a pound for butter is about the most I ever bought the finest creamery butter from my own dairy. I bought for 20 cents. I pay 12 cents a quart for milk where I used to get it for 5, still warm from the cow, for that matter. Eggs are 10 cents a dozen. Vegetables are very cheap. Fruit is cheap. Meat is cheap. Everything is cheap. I pay 12 cents a pound for butter that I bought for 20 cents in Kansas and 12 cents a quart for milk that I bought for 5.

FROST INJURES CRANBERRY CROP

MIDDLEBORO, Sept. 14.—The first frost of the season caused a damage estimated at several thousand dollars to the cranberry crop throughout the Cape Cod section of the State early today. The mercury dropped to 29 degrees, and hundreds of cranberry bogs, loaded with berries ready to be picked, were ruined.

The "dry" bogs suffered the most. Owners of these bogs kept fires burning all night around the marshes to keep off the cold but it was no use, and in scores of cases the bogs froze over solid.

The "wet" bogs were kept flooded with water all night long, and the damage to these bogs was lessened to considerable extent as a result.

It is the largest frost the farmers in this section have suffered in years and as a result the market prices of cranberries will probably go up several cents. They are now selling at $6.50 a barrel. The total yield of last year was 200,000 barrels. The cranberry crop and many of the bogs owned by the state suffered damage that would otherwise have been avoided.

Ice was now in many of the smaller streams and brooks today, and the watering troughs on many of the farms were frozen over.

THE LOST TEAM OF BUDDHA

VANDERBILT WHIP TO RETURN WITH BRIDE

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—The Willowdale estate of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Oakland Farm is being put in readiness for the arrival from London of Charles Wilson, the handsome equerry of the young wife, formerly Miss Josephine Dodsworth of East Boston. Wilson and Miss Dodsworth eloped to the altar from Boston, on January 18 last. The bride's father, Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Dodsworth of No. 463 Meridian street, East Boston, left Wilson in ignominy and not unusual fury. After the honeymoon to the lodge-keeper of England, Charles Wilson has been managing the Vanderbilt stables.

POPE RECEIVES AMERICAN PRIESTS

ROME, Sept. 14.—Mgr. Kennedy, rector of the American College at Rome, was the first American prelate to be received by the Pope since the latter's illness. He was given private audience Tuesday Sunday, and sailing on the Vatican found this bishop lively, bright and cheerful, and not in the slightest degree ailing. Mgr. Kennedy presented to the Pontiff Mgr. Shahan, and the Rev. F. C. Moran of Cleveland, O., the Rev. B. L. Conway of Scranton, Pa., and the Rev. J. J. Duffy of Inglewood, N. Y. The Pontiff imparted the apostolic benediction.

MORE NEWPORT SOCIETY ARRIVALS

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Orme Wilson (Caroline Astor), who arrived at the Wilson villa Monday, were followed by Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., despite Wednesday's storm. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, Sr., mother of handsome Sandy Vanderbilt, left at the "Breakers" soon for their villa in Kansas City, Mo., but not their first appearance in Newport this year.

LOWELL MEN HURT WHEN CAR UPSETS

WOBURN, Sept. 14.—Serious injuries to Fred H. Rooke of No. 777 Central street, Lowell, resulted from this morning's accident on the Woburn-Burlington line. Rooke was thrown from the car when it struck a double curve in the road. The car failed to make the curve and overturned. The driver and throwing out Rooke and three other passengers.

AND ALL NEWPORT ASKS IS—"WHO WAS IT?"

Thus the society item was phrased in the Newport Daily News, Thursday morning. Then it went on to say:

Mrs. ——— entertained at dinner last evening at her cottage on Bellevue avenue.

SUGAR HIGHEST IN MANY YEARS

The wholesale price of refined sugar has been raised from 6.25 to 7 cents a pound, the highest figure to which it has been raised in the last twenty-two years. Since what this means to the people of the United States can be comprehended, it was pointed out, when it is recalled that it requires more than 2,000,000,000 pounds of this product annually to keep the national sugar bowl well filled. At seven cents a pound this would cost $420,000,000.

Each year, central and south America consumes more than eighteen and a half pounds of sugar every year, for which they pay less to get at wholesale more than $2.60 at the present price is continued.

As a nation, the experts say, we spend more money for sugar than any other people on earth, and our hill slopes rapidly enough under ordinary conditions without any aid in the boosting line from the men who control the sugar market.

Already the fluctuate customer has begun to feel the advance in the price, for from the West comes the news that the prices of all deep sore drinks have been promptly advanced to meet the raise in the cost of sugar. Ice cream sodas, formerly sold at five cents a glass, are to cost ten cents now, and the quotations for other beverages of that character have been put up correspondingly.

Hits Candy Makers Hard.

"But it is around Christmas time that we are going to feel the worst of it," said a sugar broker. "This is the time of year when the cheap candy maker who supplies the bulk of the Christmas trade lays in his supply of sugar for that season's goods. With sugar at seven cents a pound there will be a sacrifice of from 50 to 60 per cent of the manufactured article we turn out of business. Under ordinary conditions they have been unable to obtain more than a cent and a half a pound for their goods."

No one can be so seven cents a pound wholesale for sugar has ever been touched since the days of the Boston Tea Party, when the Revolutionary and the Colonies had their differences little to do with the loading of tea in land.

The real concern, it is said, owns practically all the refined sugar in the east and is in a position to command its own price, notwithstanding the fact that 2,250,000 tons of raw sugar are on the way to this country from Hawaii and Java.

Causes of Shortage.

The temporary shortage in the Eastern States is due, it is said, to a drought in the best sugar districts of Germany and to a peculiar chain of circumstances governing not of the sugar beet, but the fine Jubilee refinery in Brooklyn.

Arbuckles are loaded down with raw sugar at that time, it was declared, and they would have refined and supplied it to trade in the ordinary way but with their refinery gone they were forced to buy it and have the refining done this summer with orders from the American trade piling in. The price was the immediate supply, and when the German crop failed there was practically no raw material.

The Arbuckles have rebuilt their refinery and are now in a position to get practically whatever they ask for their product.

MELLEN IN HUB; AGAIN EXPLAINS

press department an article from a newspaper, which, for reasons that will occur to all, he does not wish to name, full of insinuation and innuendo regarding his connection with the New Haven railroad, and stating that his early retirement from the presidency was a foregone conclusion, or words to that effect.

This article was presented to him within the request from the paper that he affirm or otherwise the report of his retirement.

He wrote upon the request that he was in error, but the date was not yet fixed.

He believed this was a statement, the real meaning of which was perfectly transparent, as to the very moment of things to come at some time.

Mr. Mellen further says that he was quoted, extensively and misquoted at the article, which he regards as malicious and the request for a statement, under the circumstances, devised unfairly.

He regrets if people have seen this article, but so far from the opposition to be parts to any deception.

Mr. Mellen, questioned as to the dividend outlook, says he sees no reason from anything that has happened up to the present time, why consideration should be given to the matter of New Haven dividends.

Hopes to Maintain Dividend.

The dividend of October 1, 1911, has been declared, and has been amply earned.

Unless something occurs more than he believes is likely to, unless there is some cataclysm in business impending which he cannot foresee, the question of a reduction should never be raised.

Business is sane, and for political reasons the Presidential election always makes for caution, but the prospect should only exercise a bonding weather such conditions without endangering dividends—and subsidiaries which are now under construction will soon be paying something to help pay the dividends the New Haven has, heretofore carrying without return.

The only reason he has for feeling cautious in a too positive statement regarding this matter is the uncertainties regarding future legislation and the labor question.

With these two things no worse than at present, he is confident of maintaining fairly and honestly and serving the public with equal facility, the present rate of dividend on New Haven stock.

The matter of a reduction of the dividend has never, to his knowledge, been considered in the New Haven board, and he never discussed with him by any of the directors.

Directors Meet on 21st.

The Wall Street Journal says the "Directors of the New Haven meet in Boston September 21 for the regular monthly meeting of the board. Mr. Mellen's resignation will not come before the board. Although sixty years of age, Mr. Mellen has no intention whatever of resigning until his ambition of controlling New England transportation is realized. Mr. Mellen continues to have as much influence as ever, according to a statement the support of J. Pierpont Morgan, William Rockefeller, George F. Baker and other of the most influential directors of the road.

"There is declared to be no basis for the published report of friction over the question of maintenance of the 8 per cent dividend.

"The quarterly 2 per cent dividend payable September 30 was declared much earlier than usual, so that the board would not have to meet in the summer months. At that time it was known to the directors that an $800,000 deficit had resulted for the fiscal year 1911. The dividend does not come up again for consideration for three months and is usually declared in the early part of December."

LIFE SENTENCE FOR CONFESSED SLAYER

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 14—John Otherwise Brown, as "Dogface" Johnson, confessed to the abduction and murder of little Annie Loudemeyer, the seven-year-old whose body was found in Lake Mendota. WARD RESUMES FLIGHT, BUT AGAIN ALIGHTS

PATERSON, N. J., Sept. 14—[illegible] Ward resumed his coast-to-coast flight from here early today. He expects to reach Buffalo before dark.

After a flight of fifteen minutes Ward returned to his starting place. He had encountered engine trouble and immediately began to overhaul his machine.

Ward again resumed his flight at 9:17. At 9:32 he passed Ramsey, flying swiftly and steadily.

Ward landed at Southfield, two miles south of Paterson, at 10:17 o'clock. He alighted briefly and seemed to be in perfect health.

Later it was learned that the injuries Ward received last Wednesday, when he was thrown from his machine at Hazelhurst, L. I., were more severe than at first supposed. It is said that Ward has been suffering intense pain from a broken rib, which was pressing constantly on the heart. Ward, however, refused to allow this fact to interfere with his flight.

Ward left Southfield at 10:40 o'clock. He was flying toward the summit of the Ramapo mountains when last seen. It looked like he was in serious trouble. He did not stop, as people were standing by, ready to help him.

By JAMES J. WARD.

(Written for the Boston American.)

I am back at Paterson this morning, leaving Governors Island. Knowing my eye was perfect in getting the line, and without a check I jumped right in and crossed the Hudson, coming over to the Jersey side. But the wind was blowing as strong at the height of about 2,000 feet as at the ground level, and was equally as rough. This kept me so busy with my machine that I could only look down once in a while.

Each downward sweep of the eye showed some railroad tracks to my vision. These I investigated, and they were soon convinced me that I was still over the Erie tracks. What first caused me to suspect that I was going the wrong way, I knew then that I was wrong, but I passed town after town so fast that they looked like city blocks.

I must have been travelling at ninety miles an hour. I knew then I was going wrong for sure. I turned my machine in a westerly course and followed the Long Valley Railroad. This mistake I did not discover, however, until I started to look to pick up any of the landmarks that I knew lay along the Erie, for I had traveled over this road so often that I could locate it.

I landed at what I thought was a little [illegible] 9:25 a. m. fifteen minutes after leaving Governors Island, about forty-five miles away. But the station had [illegible] been moved and [illegible] telegraphic [illegible]. Luckily it had a long distance telephone. I immediately telephoned along. The three Boolmon sisters, who owned the tract of land on which I made my landing, came down and eagerly invited me to be their guest at luncheon.

Believe me, I thoroughly enjoyed that luncheon.

At 2:01 o'clock I took to the air again and started across country, guessing that I could reach Paterson. I was using no marks nor to churches and the white house.

Air Currents Rough.

Again I found the air currents very rough. I had expected them to be good.

Just after leaving Ashbrook I ran into a storm head on. Before I realized it I was at least 5,000 feet high, and it was so misty and foggy that I could not distinguish [illegible] on the ground. I lost my bearings. After floating and circling around the hilltops again I spotted a town

Helpers Frightened.

With the aid of this auto alone I managed to get the aeroplane [illegible] to start. I ran the front wheel down into a rut in order to hold the machine [illegible] while [illegible] I could run [illegible] the engine frightened several of my assistants [illegible] and they dropped things and ran.

I had to stall the propeller with my hand, clinging with the other to a [illegible] support to keep [illegible] from being swept away by the [illegible] propeller. I finally succeeded in getting the machine started to let go, but I rolled [illegible] and [illegible] the machine [illegible] climbed around the framework into the seat. I [illegible] and [illegible] for him to release it, which he did, and I was off.

Before I started [illegible] found pointed out to me a [illegible] which I [illegible] made that to turn directly toward me and I was [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] to see if that point. And, sure enough, as soon as I rounded that [illegible] I did pick up the castle and made for it with great speed easily, after nine [illegible] hour.

LATIN SCHOOL OPENED TO-DAY

Boston opened its schools yesterday to nearly 103,000 pupils, finding plenty of room, new additions to old schools and four new schools being finished during the Summer. The Boston Latin and the Girls' Latin schools were opened today. From every district reports showed an increase over the number enrolled last June.

During the Summer the Abraham Lincoln, the Charles Brimmer, the Mary Lyon and the John L. Motley schools were established. The Abraham Lincoln schoolhouse has room for 1,700 pupils, being the largest in the city. This school is at Melrose and Fernhurst streets, and with the three other new schools accommodates over 2,800 scholars.

FLEET ON GUARD AGAINST CHINESE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 14.—A fleet of foreign warships is gathering in the Yang-Tse-Kiang River for the protection of the lives and interests of foreigners. News from Szechuen Province, received to-day, paint conditions there as the most serious since the great flood and its accompanying grave of lawlessness set in. There are only 6,000 loyal troops in the province. These outnumbered three to one by the hordes which is on its arms.

Rear-Admiral Murdock, who is in command of the United States Asiatic squadron, has been ordered to take direct steps to save Americans who are in danger.

BURNS CLOTHES IN COLD SNAP

Believed to be a pyromaniac, John E. Doherty, 42 ty-two, of No. 108 Cedar street, Somerville, who after disrobing on the steps of the Somerville City Hall annex, fronting HILL Park, set fire to his clothes, is today being examined as to his sanity.

With the thermometer down to 45 degrees, Doherty took off everything he had on except his trousers and bundling his shirt together on the steps, applied a match to the pile. Louis Hill, the proprietor of a garage, was watching Doherty, at noticed the police.

MILK DRIVERS DRIVING AGAIN

The drivers of the milk wagons of D. Whiting & Sons, C. Brigham Company and the Elm Farm Milk Company, who had been on strike since Sunday, returned to work to-day, the firms agreeing to yield to the men's demands until the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration arbitrates the matter. The strike breakers were dismissed by the milk companies, and the returning drivers proudly wore their union buttons in conspicuous places.

SEEKS TO SELL THREE WEEKS' OLD BABY FOR QUARTER

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 14.—Mrs. John Soca told Judge Neelen she could stand a whole lot of things from her spouse, but when he came home intoxicated and took their three weeks' old infant from its crib and attempted to sell it on the street for twenty-five cents to buy whisky, she balked.

The judge sentenced the man to work and turn all his earnings over to his wife and six children.

SOCIETY WOMEN ARE SWINDLED

NEWPORT, Sept. 14.—The police are searching for two men who have swindled several prominent Summer residents from whom they collected money under the pretense that it was to be used for the benefit of the widows and orphans of New York firemen. The society people were informed that it would be to their advantage to contribute if they wished protection from fire for their New York homes. They claimed to represent the New York fire department, but the New York police discovered they were fakirs and notified the local police accordingly.

MRS. GERAGHTY HUNTS BARGAINS

NEWPORT, Sept. 14.—Mrs. "Jack" Geraghty is dialing the Newport 5 and 10-cent store itself in filling up the kitchen of the cozy cottage she and "Jack" are occupying on Kinsel street. Accompanied by Miss Evelyn Harris of Springfield, her husband's cousin, Mrs. Geraghty spent some time in a 5 and 10-cent store, ordering kitchen utensils, which she picked out with much care. The clerks looked on with keen interest the advent of young Mrs. Geraghty. Customers eyed the bride and gave her many a glance. But Mrs. Geraghty went calmly on picking out pans here and kettles there, till she had completed her shopping list.

TRUSTS IN LAST DITCH OF RECIPROCITY FIGHT RAISE CRY OF PANIC

By WILLIAM HOSTER.

MONTREAL, Sept. 14.—Protectionists which has been foremost in its opposition to reciprocity is a Mr. McNabb.

Who Pays the Freight?

So here is the plan which the AMERICAN hinted far in advance would be carried out. The anti-reciprocity sentiment was to be manufactured at a central plant (Montreal Star or office of Allen & Graham—which seems to be the same thing) and thence sent out to the news organs of the country to be paid for by Mr. Borden, leader of the opposition.

What further proof is necessary? On the face of it, it is necessary to pay newspapers to print anti-reciprocity matter.

Who paid for it in the United States?

The testimony before the Senate Finance Committee showed that the number and the paper trusts, among others, paid Allen & Graham. And just at this time, when the pertinent letter comes to light. When Don Graham is reported absent from New York, and is said to be in Canada.

The Montreal Star is the distributing agency solely. That is made clear. It is acting for Mr. Borden, leader of the opposition. Mr. Borden is a politician, not a philanthropist—a most estimable gentleman, but not the sort who would pay out his own purse to pay the bill for this publicity.

Who, then, is to pay?

Listen to the Witness.

Finally, on this matter of trust campaign funds, the Witness, of Montreal, points out the following, in display type, on the first page:

"After the dissolution of the House the Anti-Reciprocity League offered the Presse (a French newspaper) $250,000 if that journal would accept the influence against reciprocity. The Hon. J. Bertrand[illegible], proprietor of La Presse, when interviewed last night on the matter, admitted that it was true. The Presse, however, continues to favor reciprocity."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier declares the other day that the Witness was one of the most reliable newspapers in Canada.

Where was the $250,000 to come from?

First evidence of the effort to defeat reciprocity through fear of a financial crash comes in the shape of the outrageous and libelous notices of loss of jobs posted manufacturers all over the Dominion in threatening their workingmen with reduced wages, half time, employment, closed shops and danger of the reciprocal agreement is adopted.

One wonders at the spirit of British fair play displayed in the act of a well owner threatening his laborers in a body of investing in their shops at the noon hour, where the president of the company would drive the workers and bluntly told them he wouldn't employ them unless they voted right, and that if they don't vote for Borden and against reciprocity they were fools for the worst.

The Same Old Story.

Never in all their high-handed practices have the trusts gone that far in the United States. Even the powerful interests throughout the Dominion of Canada have been thus warned.

It is an exaggeration of the art-operated cry that has rung through the States when ever the sacred cause of protection seemed to be in danger. All the old literature has been dragged out and dusted, and "Americanism" substituted for "protection" in a vain attempt to do service over again in the battle of entrenched privileges against the people of the country.

ELI STONE, WHO QUITS NEWSIES TO BECOME AN ACTOR

ELI STONE.

QUITS NEWSBOYS FOR FOOTLIGHTS

Eli Stone, the newsboy-actor, will sell his last paper on Saturday night, for he is to give up selling "extra" to go on the stage.

He will make his first professional debut at the popular price theater, the new National Theatre on Monday evening.

Young Stone has been a star in the two recent shows of the Newsboys' Club, and his ability as a comedian caused the management of the National Theatre to engage him for the National-Boston Comedy Minstrels—the big act of the opening week.

The hero-worship will be an end man, and will rattle the bones with Hughie Dougherty and Lew Benedict. The picture will show a decided contrast for it will present the youngest end man in the country playing together with the two oldest minstrel men on the stage to-day.

Stone is eighteen years old and lives with his parents at No. 12 Allen street, West End. For several years he has sold papers on Bowdoin street, between Tremont and Washington streets.

All the members of the Newsboys' Union, of which Stone is a member, will attend the opening performance to see that "the best room singer of the club," is successfully started on his professional career.

A reception will be tendered Stone at the Newsboys' Club some evening during the week.

PRIZE DAFFY LIST CLOSING

All daffydills received by the Daffydill Editor up to to-night will be considered for the prizes which will be awarded this week and announced in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

Thousands and thousands of AMERICAN readers are anxiously awaiting the AMERICAN each Sunday, knowing that they will get one hour's amusement through the reading of the 318 prize winning daffydills printed therein.

As a slight reward, $50 in cash is awarded each week and 300 Daffydill books

First prize, $20.
Second prize, $10.
Third prize, $5.
Fourth to Eighteenth prizes, $1 each.
Nineteenth to 318th prizes, "Tad's" famous Daffydill book.

All daffydills received after to-night will be considered for the prizes which will be awarded and announced in the Sunday AMERICAN, September 24.

Everybody can write a daffydill—but some are very much better than others.

Can YOU write a "daffy" which will be better than your neighbor's and so help to shine all others that you will be entitled to the check for $20?

Try it to-day!

If grape fruit is anti-fat, is cotton-[illegible]? Leo Mogg, West Wellington terrace, Worcester.

If you dropped a spring pad in the pond, would it be spring water? Walter Oudorof, No. 86 Bellingham street, Woodgrove, R. I.

If they found gas escaping through the manhole, where was the escapee? Jack Murphy, No. 31 Riverview st., North Andover.

If a man asked the conductor for not a whisky, would he give him a punch? Pat Murphy, No. 31 Riverview street, North Andover.

TAFT TELLS WHY HE TAKES TRIP

President Taft, who starts to-morrow on his six weeks trip to the South and West, told sixty officers of New England Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, who visited him at Parranatta, just why he is making the journey.

"I am going to do the best I can on this trip to talk to the people on the issues of the day, not alone the political issues, for there are a great many issues that it is well for the people to consider that do not attract politicians at all," he said. "They are the issues that do not figure in the headlines and yet contribute much to the welfare of the people, and it is well for the people to understand them. That is why I have been induced to go on for the encouragement you give me by coming here. It is my something that you say is true. I am very much obliged to you for giving me this strong sup-[illegible] which, I am sure, will last me through my trip.

"Reformers make mistakes because they are the mistakes of an honest man who had rather do something and be wrong than do nothing and be right," said Herbert N. Shedden, of Worcester, in addressing President Taft.

Consumption Often Develops From Pneumonia

Consumption readily attacks those who have had Pneumonia. Many sufferers from Tuberculosis give pretty history of having had Pneumonia. The lungs then weaken and are more easily attacked by the germs that cause Consumption.

For all those with "weak lungs," especially those who have had Pneumonia, Eckman's Alterative is the appropriate remedy. Cures of Consumption are accomplished by Eckman's Alterative after all else fails. There is no wisdom in waiting until Tuberculosis is established. Health is never fully valued until sickness comes. A remarkable recovery follows:

336 N. Alter St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: I wish I had known of Eckman's Alterative two years ago. After taking it, following a bad attack of Pneumonia, I have gained twenty-five pounds, and I cannot but be very thankful to you and the Almighty God for the much needed blessing and change of health it has brought me.

(Signed Judgment) THOMAS REILLY.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. For sale by all Riker-Jaynes-Sperr Boughton & Drescer Drug Depot, and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases or write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

SUYDAM HOPES WIFE WILL RETURN

"Would Give My Life to See Louise," Says Husband of Young Eloper.

over the wooded plains of Long Island every window in the magnificent colonial villas of Walter L. Suydam, Jr., and his father at Manowtasquot Farms, Blue Point, leaped into light. At the same time the butler, immaculately clad, took up his station in the splendid foyer of the young Mr. Suydam's home. The great doors leading to the dining room were thrown open, displaying a roaring log fire and a table loaded with cut glass and old family silver.

At the railroad station, a mile and a half away, was drawn up the sporting car of young Suydam—furnished as though for a bride. In the tonneau of the car romped Mrs. Suydam's favorite dog, Barney, bedecked and joyous.

Everything was in readiness for the homecoming of Mrs. Louise White Suydam, whose disappearance from her husband's home Tuesday, September 5, provided that of Frederick Noble, son of a Brooklyn plumber and a $12-a-week potion salesman.

"She can come home just as she went away, without a word or a question," said the young husband at the Blue Point villa. The young man spoke from the desk and to which he was forced to take as a result of a complete nervous breakdown.

"Something tells me she will be home," said Mr. Suydam. "I know that she will come back—that everything that has happened is just a horrible dream from which I shall awaken."

Down at the station the 9 o'clock train pulled in and discharged its slender quota of commuters. But no sleeker, young matron tripped down the steps and into her husband's machine. And still the automobile waited. And the little dog romped.

Reported Wife Had Been Found.

There were repeated rumors that the five detectives engaged by the young husband and his millionaire father had found the eccentric young society woman and her fashionable companion. They were invited, report had it first, to an address on West Twelfth street. The house, however, was found to be boarded up and uninhabited.

Both Suydams appeared confident that Mrs. Suydam and young Noble would be found soon, in fact, Harry M. Noble, Jr., eldest brother of Fred Noble, told an AMERICAN reporter his father knew where Fred is and can locate him at any time.

"I am sure that Fred did not elope with Mrs. Suydam," said Mr. Noble, Jr. "I met him only once, Saturday, four days after Mrs. Suydam left home—and he greeted me as friend. I am sure he is too fond of a child to restrain the fact that something was on his mind if he had done such a thing as this. I am sure that father knows where Fred is and could produce him in a short time if he wanted to."

William E. Noble, another brother, stated positively that his brother is not missing and could be found at 5 Bond street, the way office where he is employed. Wallace Noble said his brother is a salesman for the Howard Doubles Duster Company, No. 675 Broadway, and that he is back to his place of business every day since he was released by the grand jury in Manhattan.

At the office of the Howard Doubles Duster Company it was said that young Noble has been with the concern on and off for two years. He is now traveling through Northern New Jersey, it was asserted, and is expected back Monday.

No one at the office knew young Noble's present address or that of his friend Mrs. Suydam. Late Tuesday evening Noble was found by telephone at a newspaper man, who told him of the rumors connecting his name with that of Mrs. Suydam. The newspaper man says Noble pledged his make any statement, laughing off the query as thought the thought to show joke.

Sister Defends Noble.

When the elder Noble arrived at his cottage in Blue Point he was asked by an AMERICAN reporter if he knew the whereabouts of his son, and if he his movements of the latter elapsed with Mrs. Suydam.

"I don't know where Fred is, and, until he chooses to tell people, the popular theory of Mr. Noble, the latter's father, observed Mr. Noble.

"Louise White's twenty-five-year-old sister, the young woman, the reporter understands, who was with Louise when she left the porch of the Noble cottage at Bellport and Mrs. Suydam's cousin, Estelle Noble—a blonde of the purest type, tall and exceedingly attractive—is another matter. I do not desire to speak as temperately as I can," she said, "but the gadding about seems to me that in justice to my family and my brother, who is responsible for me as a boy, I must tell the truth.

"The woman, who is worldly wise—she was married at the age of seventeen—has practically bewitched poor Fred.

"She exercised every wile upon intellectual me and my brother, and when in company her on this wild, harum-scarum expedition. He is not himself, and compared with her. To my mind she has completely entranced him.

"Frederick is weak. He has been easily led as a dodging woman. She has controlled him all his life

PENDLETON BACK IN TIGER SQUAD

PRINCETON, Sept. 14.—The coaches took advantage of the blazing weather to give the squad practice in both the morning and afternoon. The morning's work consisted of the regular passing and catching, after which the kickers were taken in hand by the coaches.

Much time was devoted to improving the form of the punters, for this team is especially weak in this department. The drop kickers also came in for their share of attention, while the rest of the squad spent their time in running back the kicks. A short formation drill closed the morning's work.

Coaches Roper, Foulke, Taylor and King arrived in town and took charge of the men. Captain Harry made his first appearance on the field, though not in uniform, for he intends to devote his entire time to remedy his troubles. Another pleasant surprise was the appearance of Pendleton in his togs, the end of last year's team. He seemed to be none the worse for the injury to his ankle in the Spring, for he showed all his old-time speed.

The coaches held the regular lumbering big rush, after which the squad was divided into teams, and these were taught the simpler plays.

COLBY SQUAD LOOKS GOOD

WATERVILLE, Sept. 14.—Football men are reporting each day at Colby. Coach Smith's squad was increased by two players yesterday, Roy Good, halfback, and Fred H. Hunt, tackle. The squad is assembled in the forenoon and afternoon and thus far the practice has been confined to running. Tuesday, when Colby College will open next Wednesday and the greater part of the football men will then be there, until then. The entering class will be a large one, and will contain many men who have made reputations on school football teams.

WESLEYAN HAS SEVERAL VETERANS

MIDDLETOWN, Sept. 14.—Two more members of last year's team, Gillies and Parkinson, put in an appearance at the second day's practice of the Wesleyan team, bringing the total number of veterans on hand up to twelve. Lew Gordon, '04, Hilly Calder, '03, and Evan Davis, '07, three former Wesleyan stars, looked the team over at the afternoon practice, and later had a talk with Coach Harry Vorhis. All said they were greatly pleased over the prospects. The veterans already on hand are: Capt. Mitchell, Parkinson, Bernhard, Gillies, Eustis, Murphy, Wilcox, Bacon, Laggren, Pettigrue, Halverson and Mitts. The latter did not play last year, but can play this season. Durling and Murphy are expected any day. In addition to these and half a dozen promising freshmen have reported.

MIDDIES COACHING STAFF COMPLETED

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—The coaching staff at the Naval Academy has been completed by the selection of Midshipman C. O. Wright, acting captain during the latter part of last season. It has been the custom for some years to have the captain of the football team help with the coaching the following season. The coaching this year will be in the hands of younger men than ever before, the head coach being Ensign Douglas L. Howard, who graduated in 1906.

CORNELL LOSES ANOTHER VETERAN

ITHACA, Sept. 14.—Cornell's football squad was increased to about forty candidates yesterday, and a team was lined up to run the ball down the field. No attempt was made at signal work, and the greatest attention was given to handling the ball and tackling the dummy. Left Tackle Beach worked out with the team. Coach Reed is well pleased with the men who have already shown up and expects to pick a rattling good team by next week. Weidman is a promising candidate for the vacant fullback position, and made some good punts in practice. The announcement is made that Bates, the fast eight half, will not play on account of his health, which will make the fourth vacancy among the veterans.

HOLY CROSS SQUAD GIVEN HARD WORKOUT

WORCESTER, Sept. 14.—Holy Cross squad was out on Fitton field today for the workout, despite the cold weather, under the direction of Coach Timothy Larkin, who gave the candidates for the Varsity eleven a session in punting and running down the ball, with a scrimmage against the scrubs as the windup to the day's work.

Among the additions to the bunch were Captain Hiker Joy, the South Boston crack end; Jim Tobin, the plucky fullback of the Purple and White team for the past three years, and Fred Sweetgrass, another crack player from the Hub, who made an excellent showing for himself on last season's eleven. Following the session of punting and running down the ball this squad was sent around the college cinder path for several laps.

The outlook for one of the fastest and strongest teams in the history of Holy Cross was never brighter, and Coach Larkin is anxious to get them together in order to give them some good and new team plays which he will use in the big game against Yale on September 30 with the hope of capturing a victory.

NOTRE DAMES MEET ROMANS FOR TITLE

The Roxbury ball fans will have a chance to watch the best game of the year when the Notre Dames and the Romans get together at the Marcella street grounds next Saturday. The greatest rivalry exists between these two star aggregations and the game should be a humdinger from the beginning. The Notre Dame team has added such stars as Lee Callahan, the former high school of Commerce twirler; Jimmy Mulvey of the St. John's; H. Isaac and Hunter Haggerty and Reddington of the Halifax team. The Romans will depend on Tommy Donovan and Hunt Lyons to bring home the victory for them.

JOHNSON AND WELLS BOUT MAY BE STOPPED

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The nonconformist churches are determined to prevent if possible the scheduled fight between Jack Johnson and Bombardier Wells in London, on October 9. Rev. F. B. Meyer is leader of the movement. The general committee of the national council of free churches has been summoned to meet on September 29, to devise the best steps to stop the fight and the exhibition of the picture films.

In the face of the fact that the county council suppressed the exhibition of the films of the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno in 1910, its action is serious.

WORLD SERIES RIVALRY GROWS

The standing of candidates in the World Series Contest, which will be printed in next Sunday's AMERICAN, will be a revelation to some of the contestants. It will contain a record of all of the votes received up to and including Tuesday night of this week.

The time is growing very short, and the friends of candidates should remember that in order to render any help or assistance to the contestants, it is necessary that they begin to save and send in their votes at once.

With strong backing and support from the Brighton district, John Fanning, a popular railroad man and an enthusiastic baseball fan, bids fair to be heard from before the finish of the race.

All arrangements have been made for the trips, and the ten New England baseball fans who are elected the most popular by their fellow fans are assured of receiving something which will be looked upon with pleasure for years to come.

Vote coupons from the AMERICAN will elect the winners and the ten fans who receive the greatest number of votes before the contest closes will be awarded the trips, all expenses paid, to see the classical baseball exhibitions ever presented to the fascinating American public.

But only ten can go!

The vote coupon will be found on page two of the AMERICAN. The daily coupon counts ten votes, and the good five coupons weeks from the day they appear in the AMERICAN.

Don't fail to order next Sunday's AMERICAN TO-DAY, as the changes in the list of candidates' standings, which appear then, will be of intense interest to every reader who is in any way interested in this contest.

DELMONT WINS FROM WAGNER IN FAST GO

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Al Delmont of Boston gained a slight advantage over "Young" Wagner of Brooklyn in a fast and interesting ten-round bout at the Long Acre Athletic Club here last night. The Hub boxer employed aggressive methods in the first six rounds, in which honors were about equally divided, but the gallant efforts of Wagner, who fought hard in the last four rounds, Delmont was slightly surpassed by Wagner as to cleverness, but the former had a fatal habit of jab, which bewildered Wagner and drew blood from the nose in the second round. The Brooklyn boy was the master of infighting, aiming his attack at the body.

JONES FOR PRESIDENT

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 14.—Fielder Jones, former manager of the Chicago Americans, has been offered the presidency of the Northwestern League next year. Jones is said to be favorably inclined toward the proposition.

Notes Gathered Between Innings

It looked almost like a no-hit game for Ames yesterday until "Buster" Brown unexpectedly cracked a double in the sixth. In the ninth he let down and the Hustlers got two scratch runs. But Ames was helped by clean fielding and the inability of Toney's men to "hit 'em where they ain't." He did not fan one Rustler.

Both Fletcher and Herzog stole second and third respectively. Fletcher's attempt was lucky, for Hartley unexpectedly dropped the third strike when he was making for third. Herzog, who is running bases like a whirlwind, got away cleanly with his.

"Stonewall" Jackson was back in the game, in the sixth, he dropped an easy fly from Murray's bat. He almost retrieved himself by picking Herzog's slam out of the fence a few moments later and the crowd thought he had it until they saw him sprinting for the ball while Herzy was legging it for second.

Herzog had a lucky life in the fourth. He dribbled and reached a double in the sixth. It looked so soft to Bird that he tossed the ball to Rice, it went wild and Gowdy sprawled on the ground to get it. He picked it up all right, but Herzog beat him by an inch.

A wild pitch and a base on balls gave the Giants their run in the fifth. Meyers singled and Devore walked. Brown's high throw announced both as that Wilson could score on Doyle's long sacrifice fly.

"Buster" Brown threw the ball into centre field trying to catch Doyle off second in the first session, and the error cost him a run, for Doyle was also to squeeze in from third on Snodgrass's short hit to left.

Herzog made his run in the sixth by a couple of errors due to numb fingers. Ingerton missed Fletcher's hard bounder, sending Herzy to second, and when Bruel sought Fletcher off first, Brown's throw slipped through Gowdy's stiff fingers and the ex-Rustler scored the game. Only his classy base running in the sixth made his second run possible.

HAILWORTHY TO MEET SOPRANO

SYRACUSE, Sept. 14.—When the horses go to the post to-day at the State fair track for the Madden sweepstakes race there are little left but two starters, Soprano and Hailworthy, as Joan, the sensationally fast Cleveland mare, has not entirely recovered from her injury of Tuesday when she threw a stifle out of place, and neither her owner nor her driver think she will be in condition to go such a hard race this afternoon.

It will rob the race of a lot of interest, as Soprano is believed to outclass Hailworthy in a walkaway. H. Tiler, the well-known Boston trainer, was dubbed "Good Luck Tiler" yesterday when his first starting mare, Bedella, broke a leg in her leg after having won two heats and apparently having the 2:18 trot at her mercy. So badly was she hurt that it was thought at all the judges assembled to take her from the track. The mare has been a consistent winner over the big mile rings and appeared to be a trotter with considerable class.

Three to two in favor of Earl Jr., is the way the count now stands in the series of duels which have been wagered this season between the gray horse and Independence Boy. Yesterday Independence Boy had his regular trainer, Charley Valentine, up, this being the first time that the Columbus man has driven the horse in a race this year as he was under suspension at the time the other five events were pulled off.

The race yesterday was the most one-sided of the season, as Earl Jr. held the chestnut safe all stages.

The weather was too cold and the wind too strong for the Harvester yesterday but at that he trotted the fastest mile he has done this season, and when the weather gets warm enough to thaw him out, and with a fair track on he will be liable to clip something off that 2:01 which has stood for almost a year.

PORKY FLYNN AND JIM BARRY TO MEET AGAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Jim Barry of Chicago, who has fought every heavyweight of note before the public, has been engaged by the Twentieth Century A. C. to fight "Porky" Flynn of Boston next Tuesday night at the 36 Nicholas rink. Tony Ross was originally selected by the club to meet with Flynn, but Manager Flynn, his manager, asked that the bout be postponed, as the rounds which Ross had drawn in the contest with Sam Langford is still unheeled.

LEE TO MEET MYERS.

Kid Lee and Henry Myers were matched yesterday to meet in the main bout at Woburn, Monday evening, October 16. Myers, who was almost lightweight champion a year ago, has started in active training.

CHANGE PLEASES RED SOX SQUAD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—The Boston players lost no time getting out of the grounds and down to their hotel last night, so as to catch an early train for home, leaving here on the 7 o'clock flyer.

Your correspondent was the first to tell them that Jake Stahl would probably be back next season as first baseman and manager, and everybody displayed unmistakable signs of being pleased.

"I guess we won't play ball for the old boy," said Tris Speaker, and everybody was in accord with the sentiment as expressed by the great centre fielder. "We have missed Jake very much this season," continued Speaker, "but we will be there with bells on next Summer, and no one will have an excuse to offer if the Reds don't jump out in front and stay there. I know Jake is crazy for it just now, but when we get him down South in the Spring he will shock it all off him, and he will be a 'Come back' with flying colors."

Gardner, Lake, Hooper, Duffy Lewis and Hooper also chimed in with the same line of talk, demonstrating that McAleer also displayed great wisdom in getting Stahl into the deal and back into the game.

There was a report current here last evening that McAleer's chief backer in Hop Ward of the old firm of Ward & Voke. Ward is reported to be very wealthy, a close friend of McAleer's, and has enough to take a financial chance with almost any old ball club.

Should John I. Taylor relinquish the controlling interest in the Boston club his players will not express any regrets, the reason of the interfering with the team management Taylor has made himself decidedly unpopular with the players of his team, and there is no doubt that better results would be obtained if Taylor was not in control. If there is one thing which ball players resent it is interference, and they will stand for most anything as long as the boss, but for some official of the club to butt in their affairs and dissatisfaction follows immediately.

Had Taylor not been a fan he would have proved a valuable man for the American league. But it does not do to have fans in control in baseball, though of course the game could not live without them.

CLEVELAND NAPS CALL IN THEIR YOUNGSTERS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 14.—Catcher Jack Adams of Memphis and outfielder Dave Callahan of New Orleans, who were conditionally released by Cleveland last Spring, were ordered yesterday to report to the Cleveland team in New York September 19. Cleveland will take four new pitchers—Winchell of Dayton, Reigle of New Haven, Sandell of Winston-Salem, and Baskette of Toledo, and Catcher O'Neil of Worcester on the last Eastern trip.

BIG MEET FOR READING TRACK

The inter-club matinee between the Quannapowitt and Lynn Driving Clubs, which was postponed last Saturday on account of rain, will take place next Saturday at Wakefield-Reading track. Class C, Trot—Miss Olive Homer, b.m., Quannapowitt, J. Herbert; Alden Direct, b.g., Lynn, H. Phillips; Mary Robbins, b.m., Quannapowitt, R. Hardy; Dorothy Morgan, b.m., Lynn, W. R. Hardy.

STAKEHOLDER OF BIG MATCH IS ARRESTED

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 14.—Robert O'Callaghan, former Western League baseball magnate was arrested yesterday, charged with gambling, in having received bets on the recent Gotch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match. The charge was filed by Mayor James R. Hanna. O'Callaghan pleaded not guilty when arraigned in the Municipal court and was released on bond. The charge against O'Callaghan grows out of dissatisfaction of some of the bettors, who, it is said, complained to Mayor Hanna that O'Callaghan refused to turn over the stakes to the winner, the latter Chicago called at here on

FAMOUS TRAINER IS DANGEROUSLY ILL

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 14.—Fred A. Clarke of this city, a well-known trainer and driver on the Grand Circuit, suffered a stroke at his home here yesterday and is in a critical condition. He was driving his horses as usual yesterday and has been in good health. For the past fifteen years he has been in charge of the Pleasant Valley Stock Farm, run by Tobin Burke of this city.

Danderine

Makes your hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. If at once procure a bottle of Danderine and after using same for a few days and a few weeks' use will see a new hair is sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day, a short time after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

Immediately after applying a little Danderine all dandruff will disappear, and the whole of the scalp will cease and there will be no more loose or falling hair.

If you wish to double the beauty of your hair in ten minutes' time just try it. Simply moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cause every particle of dust, dirt or any excessive oil. In a few moments your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

If you care for beautiful, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter—A real surprise awaits you.

It is a happy moment for Claude and Rosamond when they see Desmond, the Great White Villain, and his black, sooty pals pinned securely imprisoned beneath the heavy iron fence. It is not often that so many enemies are rendered helpless at one stroke.

Soon, however, Claude finds a heavy roller used by the Borneo Highway Department to level the roads in good condition for the bare feet of the natives. With this our hero intends to crush out the worthless lives of the captives.

There is nothing more terrible than to have to remain idle in the face of danger. Claude is in a relief, even if hope is gone. So Desmond and the pals whom he has led into this trap must sit impotently by and watch that our hero has now decreed for them.

Note the names, another evidence, perhaps, of reciprocity on free hats, attempting to sow his field. A sudden gust of wind, such as is common in Borneo, has struck him and is blowing away his valuable seed. It is a terrible loss to the farmer.

Claude's keen eye sees that there is another man's gain. The genie flown from the toiling farmer falls upon the ground and his followers, and in a moment a flock of birds has alighted and is pecking at the grain, which is scarce in Borneo.

Wives and Husbands

From the September Number of Good Housekeeping

Wives and their husbands,
Husbands and wives!
They mumble with trouble
All of their lives!

Husbands are cold and husbands are hot,
Some are industrious, many are not;
One may be stingy, another too free,
While others are lacking in quick sympathy.
One nags at his wife, another sheds tears,
And many are joyful from too many beers;
Some balk when symptoms suggest suffragette,
And too much hooking up makes quite a lot feel.

When once to the altar
A fair maid is led,
Say, what are the chances
That she will stay wed?

When a young man leads a pretty girl to the altar and the nuptial knot is tied in the rightest possible manner with the best circle of ceremonies known, while the organ peals forth resplendent strains and the bride goes down in bituminous gore, who can tell the ingratitude of woman or the unworthy of man will do to that melting of hearts and hands?

Some say Lloyds the great insurance co. knows, might make a book on the happiness of the young couple staying wed, but I would have to stray into realms of speculation to do it.

But what does a woman want in a husband? One wants one thing and then another. One wants one thing and then another the reverse. For instance, we see the recent divorce case of Mrs. Russell Gardner the "tireless" one.

Mr. husband was too cold," declared beautiful woman with a sigh.

Husband Too Affectionate

But the court upheld the husband and said matrimonial arrangement went all right. Then right on top of that came the case of a Chicago woman who complained that her husband was too affectionate.

It is a common thing, alas! to hear a woman complain that her husband will not work—that he is shiftless, worthless! But when do you hear of Mrs. Karl Dolge of South Norwalk, Conn., who makes this complaint against her spouse:

WHY YOU SHOULD NOT FRIGHTEN CHILDREN.

Fear is one of the most sensitive instincts of animal life, says Dr. Boris Sidis in an article reprinted from the Journal of Abnormal Psychology in

SUNDAY'S AMERICAN.

"My husband works too much. He does not pay enough attention to me."

Mr. Dolge apparently was not the la spiration of that ditty that caught the guide for a Thos. "Everybody Works But Father."

Along comes Mrs. George S. Crim whose husband has been a millionaire for six years, she says, and she declares that he is stingy. That is not exactly an original complaint.

"He allows me only $20 a month for my personal expenses," said the distressed wife of the rich man, "and his expenditures in the way of entertaining me amounted to taking me to a small theatre once or twice a year. When she made me sit in a twenty-cent seat."

One Too Generous

Mrs. Crim would probably like a man like Mr. Louis H. Bryan of Gary, Ind., complains of generosity. Mr. Bryan's because her husband was too generous to her. Bryan is a millionaire, too.

"If he had been a little stingier," asserted the wife, "I believe we could have lived happily. But I was his doll and he wanted to parade me before his friends."

Behold the husband who tallies too much to the baby too husband, as it were, in the spouse of Rose Stahlberg of New York City.

"Why, that man talked and lectured me until I was on the ragged edge of nervous breakdown," declared the wife. "Oh, but he was the big noise! If I held my hands over my ears he would go into the kitchen and rattle the dishes. He ought to have lived in an Atlantic City hotel and then he would have got some of his own medicine."

Quite fearful was the husband of Mrs. Henry Heuwegen—contrary too much so for his wife and she asked for a divorce. Or dinarily it is the wife who weeps but just listen to this.

"Why he came home to the Yuletide festivities, bringing a tide with him, and he never would speak to anybody. All that man would do was to sit in a corner and weep silent tears. Once he dragged a chair clear of bead around my room and it took me three hours to unwind it."

Alexander Brown, who hails from San Francisco, appears to find a joy in the life of Grouchville. He threw a sugar bowl at his wife. He threw a pail of water at her. He threw the family wash out of the window. He threw his wife out of bed.

"By that time," remarked the wife, "I thought it about time for me to get through."

Many a word of sympathy will be spoken for Jessie Gould Dye Ophelia whose wife brought this charge against him:

"When he hooked me up and the hooks went wrong he became enraged, and there were only fifty-seven hooks and eyes

A Pitched Battle

"THERE is one peculiarity about getting exasperated at a man," wrote to the girl at a summer resort to was nothing to do, I promptly asked her her dearest friend of home. "It is that to come along. That three miles is mostly you think you never can be more exasperated than on that special occasion—and then the very next time you get exasperated you are astonished to find how much more so you can be."

"I don't know anything better calculated to infuriate one than to see a perfectly nice man idiotically in the toils of another girl. I don't involve a third parent to every woman in sight, though the men are blind and imbecile in her presence.

"When Veronica Bondy first appeared on the hotel veranda and I had watched her ten seconds I knew because I knew what was ahead of me. I was to view the spectacle of every man on the place swirling around in her wake carrying things and asking her anxiously if the hot sun didn't make her head ache and couldn't they get her something less full to drink and didn't she want to go and look at the moon?

"Nevertheless I privately excepted Arthur Bird from the list of lunatics, because—well, just because. And that very night at the dance he sold in the middle of a waltz, lifted Miss Veronica off the floor, Mr. Bondy, the most beautiful first child's in its manner, and carried her out of the room the contained, and at the end of a time her hair looked like seaweed and her dress like an accordion. I suppose to appear well. At every fall she confessed. She said once that it must be nice to be so great. Really, popular as Veronica like me and be able to negotiate half yards the air season but on for a delicate, slightly person like herself. I was different.

Revenge

"That was when I innately suggested to Arthur that he carry her. She'd have let him. I truly believe, only he pretended he didn't see. She hinted so clinging, to his arm, however, and being dragged up the hill. Now a man has got to be selfish sometimes. I'm love with a woman before he minds dragging her up a hill reputed the forenoon avoirdupois, and then when she is quite opposite of walking by well out

So Lonesome!"

"Of course there is nothing else so plentiful in the world as now, still I didn't fancy being Veronica Bondy with not off with Arthur just to show me that she could do it.

So when Veronica clecked the way as Arthur and I started out to walk three miles through the woods to a farmhouse where they sell apples, and said pathetical that she was so lonesome and there

"When we were in sight of the hotel I turned around and smiled sweetly at them. At that moment I was the object in the utmost my curly hair and the color on rain had brought to my cheeks. And Arthur had let loose on her his third social smile.

"I've had a perfectly beautiful time," I was kind enough to say sweetly.

"I hope," said Veronica in a curve of rage—for she knew how she looked—that I don't have pneumonia and the frost bites!"

Then Arthur stormed the minute he got out of hearing. What on earth did you ever ask her to go along for?"

Don't you like to have the best that is in you brought out? I asked reproachfully.

And he said one of the most brief and expressive words in the English tongue under his breath that I heard plain. I knew that Veronica had been wiped off the map.

Wait and See

IT was its first case. It was more, even, an impossible case. The point, for it was only one of my duties as a prisoner to be as defending, and the duties on its outside notes, raised its voice in passionate protest, and wanted to cross examine me and be sure to negotiate with me. Now a man has got to be selfish sometimes, in love with a woman before he minds dragging her up a hill reputed the forenoon avoirdupois, and then

But it wasn't a life of love. The jury looked guilty and the trial seemed to go against my client.

At the conclusion of the lengthy proceedings which prosecuted for about 1,000 miles, the judge arose and charged the jury.

"Do you mean to say, gentlemen, that this poor man actually stole those diamonds?" he asked. "Look at what he has got, can he be guilty of such a despicable act?

"Just you wait a minute, young fellow," the foreman of the jury replied, and then

HE DOES NOT LOVE YOU

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am sixteen and deeply in love with a man of thirty. He appears to care for me, but—

At a recent picnic he paid attention to one of my best friends.

A few months ago he presented me with a ring, and when he saw that I was depressed me, I ask you whether he should keep it. Ought he to break friendship with the girl?

THIS man does not love you, and has been merely playing with your affection. It was wrong to accept the ring.

The Despot Stomach

A Cheerful Prospect for Human Kind Now That Its Arch Enemy Has Been Conquered

By DOROTHY DIX

ACCORDING to a newspaper dispatch a German surgeon has removed a man's stomach, and the patient has recovered.

This is the most glorious news that the world has heard in a long time, for the one tyrant who rules it has always seemed impossible to cure, and against whom it was hopeless to rebel, has been the despot stomach. With the possible hope of eliminating that, life becomes a glad, sweet song, and the whole horizon becomes flooded with sunshine and joy.

Of course, the proper sort of a stomach is always a desirable possession, and, as the Indiana editor says, it is still capable a very good form except among women who are not permitted by the present social code to wear it on the outside, but in its no longer a necessary adjunct. A stomach is still an organ for the digestion of food.

The Arch Enemy

This is cheering information for heretofore a man's stomach has been the enemy that he has had to contend with from the time to the grave, and from whom there has been no possibility of escape. The newly discovered function of their stomach is a world of woe has imparted to the human race. Even the ancients knew that the ills stomach delivered the knockout blow to the human frame, for it was in the temple of Delphi that the oracle uttered the famous dictum: "Know thyself."

It is the stomach that makes us what we are. It is the machine that does all work upon it and then, when it gets ready, it decides to go out on a strike, or to vacate itself in a huff because the food doesn't suit it, or to wreak vengeance upon its owner for his neglect and cram him full of indigestion. This ungrateful organ is the bane of our existence. We cannot live with it and we cannot live without it. We cannot forget it. It is always in the picture. We can't get away from it. We abuse it, or bolt it into doing its duty, and bolting does more harm than good. We can't be softened with pity, nor bribed with gifts, nor frightened with fear. The stomach is insensible alike to flattery or sympathy. It will threaten seems to be to make trouble in our midst and nothing will appease it but its own way.

It is the most despotic of tyrants and it has the peculiar faculty of working on the fears of its victims. It can make them afraid to go out on a strike, or to vacate itself in a huff because the food doesn't suit it, or to wreak vengeance upon its owner for his neglect and cram him full of indigestion. It can make them afraid to go out on a strike, or to vacate itself in a huff because the food doesn't suit it, or to wreak vengeance upon its owner for his neglect and cram him full of indigestion. This ungrateful organ is the bane of our existence. We cannot live with it and we cannot live without it. We cannot forget it. It is always in the picture. We can't get away from it. We abuse it, or bolt it into doing its duty, and bolting does more harm than good. We can't be softened with pity, nor bribed with gifts, nor frightened with fear. The stomach is insensible alike to flattery or sympathy. It will threaten seems to be to make trouble in our midst and nothing will appease it but its own way.

A Cheerful Outlook

Not alone is this so physically and mentally, for the state of our stomach colors all our views, and determines whether they are rose-colored or pea-green.

If the future everything will be cheerful, and we will be good business. We will feel good all over, and we will be small trouble. We will be able to laugh and chuckle and sing the old songs we ate a Welsh rarebit the night before.

Now, if a stomach can make us so wretched or so happy because of the quantity of food and drink we put into it, what can be accomplished by the right kind of food and drink? Why, we can be happy all the time, and the agreeableness of living will be no longer our despair.

Optimism shall reign and pessimism shall perish from the earth when we have learned how to digest.

Health and Beauty Queries

By MRS. MAE MARTYN

Mrs. M. H.—For short thin hair there is nothing better to stimulate it healthy growth than a good shampoo with the following: Dissolve a half cupful of borax in one pint of boiling water, then add a half cupful of ammonia and a half cupful of alcohol; mix together, then add a half pint of cologne. Use a tablespoonful of this to a basin of water. Rub the scalp well with the tips of the fingers, not the nails, and rinse the hair in two waters. This shampoo will not only make your hair grow, but will make it soft and fluffy and easy to dress.

Mrs. S.—You will find the following lotion splendid for whitening and softening the skin: Dissolve a half ounce of spermaceti in a half pint hot water, then add a half pint of alcohol. This lotion not only takes the place of a face powder, but it whitens the skin and makes it look splendid. Mix together, then add a half pint of cologne. Shake the bottle well before using. Your scalp should have a weekly rub with a good tonic. Mix together a half pint of bay rum, a half pint of alcohol, a half pint of cologne and a half pint of water. Rub this well into the scalp with the tips of the fingers, not the nails, and your hair will soon have a beautiful gloss.

Mrs. M.—No, do not use dry shampoo powders. Dry shampoo powders are only a little relative almost invariably cause the hair to fall out. Use a good tonic on the hair in the south and rather than a dry shampoo powder. Mix together, then add a half pint of cologne. Shake the bottle well before using. This tonic will not only make your hair grow, but will make it soft and fluffy and easy to dress.

Mrs. S.—To make your arms round and shapely you must exercise them. Exercise in order to increase the size of the muscles. This exercise will make your arms round and shapely, but will not make them large. Stand erect with your arms hanging at your sides. Then raise them slowly above your head, and bring them down to the sides again. Repeat this exercise fifty times every morning and evening.

Mrs. D.—You need more strength to your blood and build up your health. Take

DANGERS OF FAT

HOW FAT AFFECTS THE LUNGS

How many people suffering from excess of fat can expand their lungs to fullest extent—giving lethargic bodies an abundance of fresh air? The short, panting breath of obesity makes the heart work faster, sending the blood through veins and arteries at double pressure, giving no time for proper nourishment of the body. And all because the lungs are crowded with fat that prevents smooth, easy breathing. How much better to dissolve the fat, and allow the vessels to produce compact muscle. This is accomplished surely and harmlessly through Marmola Prescription Tablets. These concentrated little tablets are the condensed form of that famous Marmola Prescription which for years has proved so successful and effective in reducing fat people to slimness. The steady even reduction is accomplished, without dieting or exercise, allowing you to live as you like, eat what you like and still lose 10 to 16 oz. a day. Marmola Prescription Tablets are for sale by all druggists or the Marmola Co., 77 Monroe Ave., Detroit, Mich., at 75c for a large case. If getting too fat for comfort, buy a case today.

AUTO ENGINEERS TO TOUR EUROPE

By J. C. KERRISON.

The members of the Society of Automobile Engineers will take a trip through Europe during November. They will leave about the first of the month and will attend the Olympia Show in London, while there being entertained by the Incorporated Institution of Automobile Engineers.

A run through the many English motor parks will be made, as will also a visit to the Brooklands track, on which has been created many world's records especially those for endurance.

After a thorough inspection of the English manufacturing plants, the visitors will take a trip across the channel and inspect the plants in France. It is believed that about fifty members of the association will participate in this outing.

Just as most people were getting to business this morning there pulled into Boston a party of tourists who had made the run from Buffalo to this city at a pleasurable pace. The party consisted of N. H. Hambly, manager of the Thomas Branch, who drove the 6-40 1912 Thomas car and these friends: H. A. Finney, A. W. Finney, H. C. Henderson and D. B. Sehorr.

It was late Monday night last when the start to Boston was made from the Thomas factory, a short, easy run to Rochester, thirty-two miles away, being taken on the Tuesday the run from Rochester to Albany was done without the slightest difficulty, although the greater portion of the trip was over roads that were more or less rough, owing to the fact that the major portion of the State roads were closed and under repair, and it was a case of hunt around the bush a dozen times, while the main route down by torrents.

The night was spent at Albany, and yesterday the trip was made from Albany to Worcester, a stop being made at the latter city. Early this morning the party got away from Worcester and came into Boston over the rolling time of one hour and forty minutes.

Throughout the trip not a wrench was used or an adjustment made to the motor car, and the machine is in splendid shape as well as in ability proves a fitting step-child to the long line of Thomas cars that have preceded it.

* * *

W. L. Hilliard who has the distinction of holding the White Mountain hill climbing record, and has qualified several times, has joined the selling forces of the Frank E. Wing Company on Columbus avenue. Mr. Hilliard says there is a boom coming in the automobile business than in the aviation field, and with the Thomas Flyer and Overland he feels confident of success.

* * *

Alvan T. Fuller has re-established his department for miscellaneous used cars in his former salesroom in the Motor Mart. Clark Brown being at the head of this department.

* * *

The Boston Motor Wagon Company is the latest addition to automobile concerns in Boston, Manager G. Frank Davenport having established a salesroom at 1266 Commonwealth avenue, in the Motor Mart. The new company will handle the Motor Wagon, manufactured in Detroit and selling at prices ranging from $600 to $1,000, according to body construction. The Motor Wagon is a two cylinder horizontal opposed engine, with a planetary type transmission, double-chain drive, artillery wheels and is guaranteed to fifteen miles an hour. The chassis is fitted with a full elliptic spring open type equipped to full panel, and is a most serviceable type of delivery wagon.

Moreover it is discovered in State Street simply because it is the only one of the kind sufficiently large to handle traffic to discuss trade, safe investments to nothing. The European governments have not yet gone into the hands of financiers, and there is no Morgan-Belmont will to do it without war.

* * *

The real reasons for the slump in stocks are the world wide depletion of capital, the fear of the people of the growing power of fresh politicians, the fear of tariff reform in the United States and the fear of the income tax. All of these resulted from a misunderstanding of the limit of the power of the people to control the liquidation of stocks by the leading financiers, and the people naturally fell properly to account for the declines of individual stocks by saying to Bob them.

* * *

In its present state of mind State street may perhaps be excused for not taking a sufficiently optimistic view of the situation, and perhaps for that reason does not appear to be a good field for the sowing of the latest bull argument offered. But now that the people have come to see that the recent heavy selling of European holdings of our securities is not to be followed by a blasting in despised America, nor yet by the dumping on our markets of our own securities, but it is being flung back at a high price for the use of the gold required for the making of the crops, a decided profit is the right alone. It is suggested that the present set of stocks is of less value than the best. And there are other considerations, since the people generally are no longer edged on the foot that we are no longer obliged to pay big good dividends which will be used by themselves

Missouri Pacific's weakness is explained by the report that the directors have insisted on having the samples investigated before declaring a special dividend. For this was done in Western Union when the latter was in a similar position, and the company got control and the result will naturally be a good thing for the stock and its holders. But it will give the new president a good foundation for future comparisons.

* * *

Pennsylvania struck another new low record and among the other lines that Mr. Haven broke to a new low price. The Pennsylvania people are making bold declarations that the dividend would not be reduced, and that the stock is not for sale, but the fact remains that the stock is coming from the New Haven offices more and more dividend ought to be paid on the stock, but still the price is unchanged.

* * *

Since the St. Paul entered the territory in which Spring wheat was a failure, and therefore, the country was not dependent on traffic than it had last year, and since the statement that the money paid out for dividends came from the earnings made in the previous year, the fact that the non-appearance of a 7 per cent. dividend on St. Paul does not affect the value, and the persistence of that dividend is a menace to the stock market.

* * *

Beet Sugar attracted attention again yesterday, and the person identified with the company is responsible for the statement that the beet sugar crop of the world is 1,500,000 tons less than last year. The American company is, however, has the largest crop ever, but the world will get the advantage of the high prices for sugar which have established a new record for the last twenty-three years.

* * *

"There are few days when you can picture in Commonwealth avenue," said one of the oldest members of the Exchange, speaking of the current conditions. "Beats makes money at times, but in the long run it is the bull on the United States whose pocket pays a fat inheritance tax."

TO-DAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

PRESSURE IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Pronounced pressure from several sources depressed the stock market to the lowest levels for the recent range of the present movement being reached. All branches were down. Among the first declines were Steel, Copper, Amalgamated Copper 8, American Smelting 5, Reading 5, Erie 3, Atchison 5, Union Pacific 8, Canadian Pacific 1, Pennsylvania 3.

Union Pacific was one of the weakest features, selling from 153¾ to 151¾, in the closing parts of the trading, recovering partly at the start. There was a widespreading slant in Steel common. Losses ranging from about one-half a point to over a point and a half were common in many issues, but some stocks reflected fair similarity to the full dealings was in fair demand.

There was heavy selling from commission houses, some of it coming from Berlin. Traders held the Moroccan situation to be one of the strongest factors in the market, its effect coming from wide liquidation.

The curb market opened dull and easy. Americans in London opened above parity. Canadian Pacific in London lacked support.

The Flight Across the Continent

Mr. Hearst's $50,000 Prize Offer Stimulates Courage and Ingenuity. It Initiates What Would Seem To Be a Commonplace of Everyday Life.

Copyright, 1911, by American Press Association

A young man named Fowler and another young man named Ward are endeavoring to cross this continent in heavier-than-air flying machines, first, to demonstrate their ability and the value of their machines; second, to add one step to the conquest of the air, and, third, to win a prize of fifty thousand dollars offered by W. R. Hearst for a successful flight from ocean to ocean in a heavier-than-air machine within the space of thirty days.

Fowler flew from San Francisco to Sacramento, where he stopped "to get a sandwich and shake hands with the Governor." From Sacramento he flew to Auburn, just west of the famous Reno, and there stopped for the night. The next morning he started to cross the Sierras, but after covering thirty-five miles was obliged to descend at Alta, Cal., when his vertical rudder broke. He expects to continue his journey to-morrow morning.

Ward, flying West, ascended from Governor's Island, New York harbor, yesterday morning.

The whole population of the country will wish success to these men, daring pioneers, whose journey means as much in future possibility to the human race as that of the first brave Phoenicians that dared to sail through the mouth of Gibraltar out on the great sea.

Besides Fowler and Ward, six other courageous men have entered the race for the prize that Mr. Hearst has offered in order to stimulate the development of the flying machine.

The offering of this prize is already of proved value, for it has caused the special construction of machines unusually powerful and enduring. And it has brought into the field of aviation a host of young men whose courage is needed in the pioneer stage of a great science.

The time which Mr. Hearst allows for the completion of the ocean-to-ocean air journey—thirty days—is liberal. To make the period longer would be to destroy the value and interest of the undertaking. To make it very much shorter would be to impose onerous conditions and too great risk upon the contestants.

If a man has a machine and nerve good enough to cross the continent at all he can do it in thirty days.

Flying machines already have flown at a rate exceeding one hundred miles an hour. That rate of speed, if it could be maintained—as it will be, and far exceeded, before long—that rate of speed would bring a flying man from San Francisco to Boston in about thirty hours.

A speed of sixty miles an hour is not unusual with flying machines under ordinary conditions.

Whether or not this first attempt to cross the continent in thirty days is destined to succeed, whether any of the eight men that have entered the contest will win the prize, we do not know. But we sincerely hope that one of them may win it.

In any case, it is safe to say that within a short time, a year or two at most, the journey across the continent by airship will not be unusual, and it will be accomplished in much less time than thirty days.

Before this country is much older, within a quarter of a century, and perhaps much sooner, rapid travel across this continent will be far above the ground and through the air exclusively. Only freight will travel long distances on the ground.

And within this century, which is destined to be the century that will give to humanity freedom from the law of gravitation and therefore complete possession of the earth, men will go from ocean to ocean within a few hours, and travel from New York to Berlin as quickly and more comfortably and safely than they travel now from one good-sized American city to another.

These accomplishments of the future, which are as certain to come as the sun is certain to rise day after day, will add to the happiness, power and dignity of the human race.

The considerable prize which Mr. Hearst offers, for which these courageous men are competing, stimulates and encourages the art and science of flying, which is Mr. Hearst's desire in offering the prize.

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

SPREADING OF DISEASE

Editor AMERICAN:

I read your article of August 31 on animals as carriers of diseases and of their proposed extinction. This subject of infection is very broad and one that is continually dwelt upon.

We are all carriers of diseases in a certain way. How many doctors have carried scarlet fever to their fair visits, or at least they have thought that they did and then have remained for weeks, or used them less in contagious visits.

We have every reason to believe that rats in India and squirrels in California have spread the plague, but these people have been slow to realize these dangers and come to rule with rats in India and squirrels in California.

The Animal Rescue League does a good work in caring for the suffering animals.

Consumption is very common among rats, but is rarely recognized and they are specially cared for. A dog, cat or any animal that is sick should be isolated.

Cases of infantile paralysis have been noticed where there were house pets in the household and the children were allowed to fondle them. Whether these animals carried the disease or infection or not, in order to safeguard ourselves, sick pets should be kept away from children. My experience with pets as a means of exterminating rats and mice has always had its drawbacks. I had had a happy family of rats, will keep a business place free from rats and mice. If sickness shows itself among the rat family, the delicate one or ones are sacrificed. Exposed of in a humane way. Cats that are well reared don't have to fight. Train them to catch rats and mice. Don't starve them. I wish some other lover of animals would say a few words on this subject.

TO STOP ASYLUM ABUSES

Editor AMERICAN:

Before the storm-center left for the West, I called his attention to several new cases of brutality at Concord Reformatory, Charlestown State Prison, Danvers, Bridgewater, Worcester, and other institutions, brought to my attention by relatives of inmates.

I suggested to the Governor through Mr. Holman, his secretary, an immediate remedy and one I believe your paper will advocate for the benefit of our unfortunates who are unable to plead their own cause. Here it is:

Let the Governor send a communication to every superintendent and medical man connected with our penal institutions and asylums for insane, stating that the next time his attention was called to assaults on any of our public charges he would remove the trustees of the institution against which said charges were preferred. That would give the Governor a free hand to discharge the superintendents who are appointed by the trustees. Their superintendent's fearing loss of position would work overtime to screen the guilty charges, not that they love their charges less, but their salary more.

This would I believe have an immediate effect on all attendants connected with our public institutions.

The press has the power to agitate the all important subject. Will you do it?

DOGS OUR FRIENDS

Editor AMERICAN:

Don't be prejudiced for you know there are good dogs as well as bad ones. It is the stray dogs that cause all the trouble. If a dog is taken care of it is a good friend.

I DO NOT SEE HOW I AM EVER GOING TO GET OUT OF THIS DEAL WITHOUT MAKING A COOL MILLION! THERE IS NO CHANCE
OF MY MAKING LESS WITH EVERY CHANCE OF ME MAKING!
MORE! HUH! THE PEOPLE WANT TO BE FOOLED ANY HOW! YET I CAN NOT SAY I AM
FOOLING ANY BODY I AM TAKING AD-VANTAGE OF THE MARKET!
WHAT CARE I WHAT THEY THINK!
WHAT AILS THIS CHAIR? AM I SEEING THINGS OR WHAT OH!
WHEE! OH! WHAT A DREAM! HUH WOW!

SOMEONE HAS STOLEN THE FENCE FROM IN FRONT OF MY HOUSE!
IT MAY BE WORTH LOOKING INTO, WATSO!
HERE'S WHERE THE FENCE STOOD; THERE WAS JUST 20 FEET OF IT!
YES AND HERE ARE THE MARKS SHOWING IT WAS DRAGGED AWAY IN THIS DIRECTION! COME WATSO!
MARVELOUS!
AND HERE IS OUR FRIEND'S FENCE, INTACT!
EVIDENTLY THE MEANINGLESS ACT OF A LUNATIC!
WATSO, HOW LONG A DROP DO YOU THINK IS FROM THAT WINDOW TO THE GROUND?
WHAT HAS THAT TO DO WITH THE CASE?
EVERYTHING, MY DEAR WATSO! YOU SEE THE FENCE JUST REACHES THAT DISTANCE!
SO, MR. NERVO, JUST BECAUSE YOU FORGOT YOUR KEY LAST NIGHT YOU TOOK NEIGHBOR'S FENCE FOR A LADDER!
WONDERFUL!
WELL HE CAN COME AND TAKE IT BACK ANY TIME— I'M THROUGH WITH IT!

The Beauty and Comfort of Oriental Wisdom

To Those Whose Brains Are Capable of Logical Reasoning No More Wonderful Study Can Be Undertaken Than to Delve Into the Philosophical Regions of the Orient.

THE splendid discontent of God
With chaos made the world.
Set suns in place and filled all space
With stars that shone and whirled.

If apes had been content with tails
No thing of higher shape
Had come to birth; the king of earth
To-day would be an ape.

"BE not attached." So runs the great command
For those who seek to "know" and "understand."
Who sounds the waters of the deeper sea
Must first draw up his anchor and go free.

And from the discontent of man
The world's best progress springs.
Then feed the flame (from God it came),
Until you mount on wings.

It has been the fashion for the last decade and a half, among the intellectually unemployed, to delve into the philosophical religions of the Orient.

No better use can be made of the brain, if the brain is capable of logical reasoning and if the mind is comprehensive enough, in its range to grasp the WHOLE of this wonderful religion.

Here are three of the laws laid down for the student of Oriental wisdom—laws for living the higher life:

"Kill out ambition;

"Kill out desire of life;

"Kill out desire of comfort.

Many students who begin in this line of research go no farther than these three sentences.

They declare it is an impossible and repulsive religion, and they turn their backs upon it.

Others, emotional women especially, undertake to live practically and literally those principles and cease to be normal human beings; they fail in all their duties as citizens, wives, mothers, and walk about the earth like disembodied ghosts, neither alive nor dead.

Many such women can be found in any intellectual circle, and where they are found are broken homes and unhappy men and children.

Work as Hard as the Most Ambitious, Respect This Life and Be Happy

But these students, whether men or women, failed to go deeply into the philosophy of the ancients—the GREAT SOULS who formulated the most marvellous system of human reasoning and thinking and living in the Universe.

Here is the Fourth Rule:

"WORK AS THOSE WHO ARE AMBITIOUS.

"RESPECT THIS LIFE AS THOSE WHO DESIRE IT.

"BE HAPPY AS THOSE WHO LIVE FOR HAPPINESS."

Understood, then, the paradoxical rules of the Vedas mean just this:

Kill out the petty ambition to get ahead of your neighbor; to outshine him; to have a bigger house, more clothes and jewels, more political power, more social prominence. But WORK AS HARD AS THE MOST AMBITIOUS, with the object to make the most of yourself and to use all your abilities, which were given you to use.

Work to be a SUCCESSFUL man or woman in your own special line, taking care that you let no silly desire for leadership or weakling fear your ideal. Kill out desire of merely physical life, of the enjoyments of the senses, of eating and drinking and buying things to wear, and of considering that this is all of LIFE.

BUT RESPECT LIFE AS THOSE WHO DESIRE IT by thinking of life as ETERNAL; by remembering that life has no beginning and will have no end, and by making every aim and ambition subserve the purpose of SELF-DEVELOPMENT.

To be a good wife, a good mother and a good friend, to have a beautiful, well-ordered home, to wear becoming raiment, to enjoy good food and to take an active part in the pleasures of life, in an way interferes with this aim of self-development.

What the Masters meant was to keep this aim FOREMOST and avoid the state of mind which sinks into the love of temporal pleasures, forgetting how ephemeral they are.

It means to avoid growing idle, indolent, selfish and sensual just from seeking comfort and luxury on the physical plan. It is followed by the command TO BE AS HAPPY AS THOSE WHO LIVE FOR HAPPINESS.

That means to use everything which this beautiful life and this beautiful world have provided amply, rightfully, and to enjoy every moment of our existence here, knowing it is one phase of Eternity, one Room of the Hereafter; BUT ONLY ONE ROOM.

Live Always in the Eternal and Think all Men Our Brothers

The Masters tell us also to LIVE NEITHER IN THE PAST, THE PRESENT NOR THE FUTURE, BUT IN THE ETERNAL, and to think of ALL MEN as our brothers, come from the same source, going to the same goal.

They tell us to OWN THINGS, but to avoid letting things OWN US. To indulge our natural appetites, but to avoid letting our appetites MASTER US; to eat and drink and dress in order to live, but never to live to eat and drink and dress.

Surely all this teaching is very beautiful and very moral and very sane, and it seems incredible that so many orthodox Christian minds have refused to grasp it in its full meaning.

And it seems incomprehensible that so many hysterical women have construed it as a command to give up wifehood and motherhood, society of friends and normal pleasures and to become ascetics, starving the body and the heart.

There are, indeed, strict rules of life and conduct, including fasts and times of utter solitude, for those who desire to become adepts, masters in the domain of mind and spirit, just as those who wish to become priests and sisters in the Roman Catholic Church, and who have chosen this as their life work from their special studies—just as another may choose to give up the world and marriage and society to become a missionary in some savage land.

Seek the Way Not by Any One Road

But that does not indicate that the philosophy is only logical and possible by adopting these extreme measures. And here is a final quotation from the marvellous literature of the ancients—literature which requires many lives and continual concentration to begin to grasp it in all its beautiful grandeur and satisfying completeness:

"Seek the WAY, but not by one road. To each temperament there is one road which seems most desirable. But the way is not found by devotion alone, by religious contemplation alone, by ardent progress, by studious observation. No one alone can take the student more than one step on board. All steps are necessary to make up the ladder.

"The whole nature of man must be used wisely by the one who desires to enter the way. Each man is to himself the way, the truth, the life; but he is not free when he grasps HIS WHOLE INDIVIDUALITY FIRMLY and recognizes it as not himself, but as that which he has created to reach the LIFE BEYOND INDIVIDUALITY. THEN YOU MAY KNOW YOU HAVE FOUND THE BEGINNING OF THE WAY.

"And when you have found the end, its light will become suddenly the INFINITE LIGHT."

The closing scenes of the great fight over reciprocity in Canada will be graphically described in next Sunday's AMERICAN by Mr. Elias McQuaid, the Sunday AMERICAN'S special commissioner sent to Canada expressly to describe his impressions of the campaign from first-hand observation.
